EXPLANATION OF THE STUDENT CONDUCT CODE TERMS 24

PREAMBLE

The official Student Handbook of Greensboro College contains the Student Bill of Rights, Student Conduct Code, and the Judicial Philosophy and Procedures. The purpose of the Student Handbook is to provide students with a clear and concise Statement of Student Rights and Responsibilities. Greensboro College student rights are outlined in the Student Bill of Rights and student responsibilities are outlined in the Student Conduct Code. While the Academic Honor Code, departmental specific policies, and other general information are referenced, none are fully contained herein.

The Rights and Responsibilities of Greensboro College students can be summarized by the following statement:

Greensboro College students are expected to conduct themselves with respect, honor, and integrity, while pursuing personal growth, both on campus and in the greater community.

The Student Handbook shall serve as the authority concerning student conduct, the interpretation of which is the ultimate responsibility of the Dean of Students. Every attempt has been made to ensure that the Student Conduct Code is broad enough to cover all eventualities without being so specific that it is cumbersome to read or comprehend.

Every Greensboro College student, therefore, pledges to uphold and protect these rights and responsibilities in the following manner:

Academic Honor Code Pledge

As a member of the Greensboro College community, I do hereby pledge to uphold the Academic Honor Code of the College and to endeavor to create a spirit of integrity and honor for its own sake. I pledge truthfulness at all times, respect for the property of others and absolute honesty in the performance of all academic work. I understand the provisions of the academic honor system and realize that a plea of ignorance will not be accepted.

Student Conduct Code Pledge

As a member of the Greensboro College community, I do hereby acknowledge that I have been advised of my responsibilities within the Greensboro College Student Conduct Code and I voluntarily, by virtue of my enrollment, accept responsibility for upholding the Student Conduct Code and all College policies. I understand that it is my responsibility to read and understand the provisions of the Student Conduct Code and realize that a plea of ignorance will not be accepted.

GREENSBORO COLLEGE HONOR CREED

The Greensboro College Honor Creed is a statement of institutional beliefs and standards. Therefore, the creed necessitates a response by all member of the institutional community. The response is captured in the aforementioned student pledges

Greensboro College is an institution dedicated to the liberal arts, career preparation and the development of the whole person. Greensboro College values an environment in which students are free to examine issues, think creatively and advocate differing viewpoints. An invitation to attend Greensboro College includes the opportunity to be a part of a unique campus community. Choosing to join the Greensboro College community entails an obligation to uphold the standards set forth in the Honor Creed. All students are protected and bound by four ethical pillars, representing the four Doric columns that support Main Building. These pillars embody the mission of the faculty, staff, students and alumni of Greensboro College, the community of scholars at this institution.

Respect

We respect the dignity and integrity of all persons and property within the community and abroad. We act as a positive influence in representing Greensboro College and are ambassadors in creating a general concern for the welfare of others. We accept all persons, regardless of age, ethnicity, gender, race, religion, physical or mental disability, and sexual orientation. We conduct our actions with civility. All who enter this community are welcomed and treated with compassion and consideration. We understand our responsibility to ourselves and to the world at large to treat the earth and its inhabitants with respect.

Honor

We maintain honor and respect in all aspects of our lives. In doing so, the scholars of Greensboro College respect the Academic Honor Code and the Student Code of Conduct in pursuit of the highest level of excellence with the utmost honesty and integrity. Whether in the classroom, on the playing field, on stage or elsewhere, Greensboro College is consistently a beacon of honor in the community at large.

Integrity

We have a social responsibility to uphold all rules and regulations set forth by the College and its departments. We are obligated to respect the beliefs of our affiliation with the United Methodist Church. We strive to learn from all experiences, positive or negative, made by our peers and ourselves. Each member of this community understands that it is the experiences of our past and the pasts of others that form each person's spirit and character.

Growth

We aspire to learn and grow from the differences of others. Members understand and respect that no two humans are alike and that the differences among us create the positive environment in which we live. We maintain our own self-respect and dignity, for without respect for the self a person cannot respect anyone. We engage ourselves in our own personal growth in all realms of life and foster a need for the same growth in others. We constantly strive to better ourselves through our actions, thoughts and personal development. By upholding the values of these four pillars, we ensure that the Greensboro College community will always benefit from our relationship.

STUDENT BILL of RIGHTS

Greensboro College Statement of Student Rights

Greensboro College Students have the right to reasonable access

Greensboro College is committed to providing academic access for all students. Using the Universal Design for Learning (UDL) framework, Greensboro College creates diverse learning environments that benefit all learners, by removing barriers and allowing for reasonable academic accommodations for otherwise qualified students.

Greensboro College Students have the right to the free pursuit of education

The classroom environment shall be a place of free discussion, inquiry, and expression in which students have the right to clearly defined course objectives, evaluation methods, academic standing, and graduation requirements.

Greensboro College Students have the right to live in civility

As a member of the Greensboro College community students shall be free from discrimination and harassment. Greensboro College affirms the United Methodist Social Principles and Creed insomuch as “We commit ourselves to the rights of men, women, children, youth, young adults, the aging, and people with disabilities; to improvement of the quality of life; and to the rights and dignity of all persons.”

Greensboro College Students have the right of association and representation

Students have the right to establish organizations and governmental bodies and to participate in Student Affairs programs including the freedom of association, freedom of speech, freedom of press, freedom of religion, and freedom of the exercise of the rights of citizenship.

Greensboro College Students have the right to due process

Due process is defined as appropriate Administrative Procedures as outlined in the Student Code of Conduct. All disciplinary actions shall have as the core function the opportunity to educate while maintaining safety and security.

Greensboro College Students have the right to access records.

Students shall have the right to access and control access to their personal College records as provided by the federal Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act. To minimize the risk of improper disclosure, academic, disciplinary, and health records are kept separate, and the conditions of access to each are set forth by the supervising departments: Health services, Counseling services, Accessibility services, the Dean of Students, and the Registrar.

STUDENT CONDUCT CODE

Greensboro College Statement of Student Responsibilities

Greensboro College views its role in the administration of student conduct as one of protecting the campus community, ensuring due process, and providing appropriate educational opportunities for the student(s) found in violation. While it is necessary that this approach provide a system of sanctions for those individuals who choose to violate the student conduct code, the system also encourages growth and development of students by promoting the practice of responsible behavior. Students are expected to manage their conduct with mutual respect for the rights and privileges of others. The purpose of the student conduct code is therefore, to educate students about personal responsibility and encourage his/her development toward independence.

Judicial Philosophy of the Student Conduct Code

Whereas, a judicial process is necessary and effective when it is applied within the learning experience of a student and/or for protection of the community in which the student lives and learns;

And whereas, when judicial action becomes necessary, the matter should be handled as expeditiously as possible;

It is therefore, the philosophy of Greensboro College to educate students concerning the rules and regulations of the College, emphasizing the need to live by those rules in a community;

The outcome of which, is the proper student conduct as promoted in residence hall meetings, administrative conferences, Student Conduct Council hearings and student contact with one-another, staff, and faculty.

JUDICIAL POLICIES

Greensboro College supports the theological and ethical traditions of the United Methodist Church. Accordingly, the College encourages responsible social interaction among all its students.

I. Public Awareness of Violations

- A. It is the obligation of every Greensboro College student to report violations of the Student Conduct Code to a member of the Student Development, Residence Life, Campus Security staff, or any other College Administrator. Any Greensboro College student who chooses to remain in an area where a violation of the Student Conduct Code is occurring or who withholds information regarding a violation of the Student Conduct Code may be referred for disciplinary action along with those involved in the violation. That student may also be charged with the same violation(s) as those who committed the violation(s).
- B. A student can report a violation by completing an "Incident Report" which can be obtained from Campus Security, a member of the Residence Life staff or on-line.

II. Off-Campus Conduct

Conduct occurring off-campus, which is a violation of the Student Conduct Code, may be subject to the same judicial process and sanctions as if the conduct occurred on campus.

III. Removal from Campus

If the College has reason to believe that a student poses a danger to him/herself or other members of the Greensboro College community, the student may be:

- A. required to complete a no contact order;
 1. A signed document that the student may have no contact in any manner with another student or group of students.
- B. banned from the Residence Halls;
 1. Immediate removal from the dorms, with no privilege to return, for a specified period of time.
- C. banned from campus;
 1. Immediate removal from the campus grounds, with no privilege to return, for a specified period of time.

IV. Violations

The following are considered violations of the Student Conduct Code. These violations are applicable to any and all Greensboro College student, student led organizations, and guests of students. The possible sanctions listed are a guideline only. In any situation, the sanctions may be more or less severe based on the particular incident and circumstances.

A. Alcohol

1. Greensboro College, through education and supervision, affirms, supports, and encourages the position of the United Methodist Church outlined in The Book of Discipline with regard to consumption of alcohol and, therefore, recommends abstinence. Recognizing, however, that some responsible individuals consume alcohol and realizing that there are members of the Greensboro College community of legal drinking age, the following policy has been established.
2. Level 1 Violations
 - Empty alcohol containers: are prohibited in a room where either resident is under the legal drinking age. The displaying or possession of such containers in the residents' room is a violation of the Student Conduct Code. Failure to comply after a request to discard containers will result in an alcohol violation.
 - Age limitations: The laws of the State of North Carolina pertaining to the possession and use of alcoholic beverages shall be followed specifically. It is illegal for persons under the age of 21 to consume or possess alcohol or for persons of legal drinking age to supply alcoholic beverages to those who have not reached the age of 21. Alcohol may not be consumed or possessed in a room where either student is under the legal drinking age.
 - Closed containers: Students may not loiter in public areas while in possession of alcoholic beverages. (A closed container is one on which the seal has not been broken).

- Public display of alcoholic beverages on campus or College-owned property: Alcoholic beverages may not be possessed or consumed by persons of any age outside of individual residence hall rooms, unless at an approved, College-sponsored event.
- Purchase of alcohol with College funds: Neither the College nor any group, which owes its existence to Greensboro College, whether officially or unofficially, formally or informally, will be permitted to use any organizational funds derived from or held by the institution for the purchase of any kind of alcoholic beverage.
- Social functions. Greensboro College does not permit alcoholic beverages at student-sponsored or athletic events on or off campus. All members of the Greensboro College community are responsible for abiding by this policy and the enforcement thereof.

3. Level 2 Violations

- Alcohol Abuse. Unbecoming behavior or any conduct violation committed by a student under the influence of alcohol is not acceptable in the Greensboro College community. Alcohol abuse is considered any use of alcohol by a student which leads to medical consequences or inappropriate behavior. Examples of such include but are not limited to: alcohol poisoning, blackouts, gastritis (vomiting), alcohol-related physical injuries, verbal abuse, physical abuse, property damage, failure to comply with College officials, reoccurring episodes of intoxication or a single episode of intoxication in which the Dean of Students or his/her designee believes that the level of intoxication posed a risk to the student's or other students' health or well-being.
- Binge Drinking: Any drinking game or common container found on campus or at a College sponsored off campus event shall be considered to be used for binge drinking. Pong tables/set ups, Beer kegs, bongos/funnels and other common containers are considered a violation.
- Off-Campus violations. Although Greensboro College cannot and does not accept responsibility for the conduct of students while they are off College property and cannot regulate the sale of alcoholic beverages to members of the Greensboro College community by the management of off-campus businesses, the College reserves the right to make off-campus conduct by its students a matter of the judicial policy under the Student Conduct Code - See Judicial Policies, Section II.

D. Drugs, Paraphernalia, and Substance Abuse

- Greensboro College has a zero tolerance policy for the use of illegal drugs, drug paraphernalia, and substance abuse of any type. Therefore, any substance, legal or otherwise, that is used for the intention of intoxication/impairment, or misused regardless of intent, and is deemed harmful or potentially harmful to self or others, will be considered substance abuse.
- This policy is intended to maintain a drug-free living and learning environment and workplace. The College recognizes the potentially harmful effect that substance abuse can have on the lives of individual members within the Greensboro College community.
- Self-referral is strongly encouraged for students who want to seek recovery from alcohol or other substance abuse. Students who seek early assistance in the recovery from substance abuse impairment may be required to participate in an education and treatment program.

- Disregard of this policy will subject offenders to disciplinary action up to and including dismissal from the College.
- The College strictly prohibits the possession, use and/or distribution of illegal drugs and drug paraphernalia by any member of the Greensboro College community.
- Examples of prohibited and illegal items include, but are not limited to: any amount of an illicit drug (including seeds), bongs, pot pipes (bowls), rolling papers, scales (electronic or hand-held), blow tubes, etc.

EXPLANATION OF THE STUDENT CONDUCT CODE TERMS

Administrative Conference - A specific meeting which has been scheduled by the Associate Dean of Students or his/her designee to discuss the alleged charges that have been brought against a student for violating the Student Conduct Code. In this meeting, the student has the opportunity to explain what happened, ask questions about the Student Conduct Code, take the opportunity to accept responsibility for his/her actions and receive sanctions.

Apology - A student may be required to provide a verbal or written apology to an individual who was inconvenienced, insulted or embarrassed by the accused student's behavior.

Appeal - A written request submitted to the Dean of Students by a student who has allegedly violated the Student Conduct Code and believes that the procedures provided in the Student Conduct Code were not followed.

Community Restitution - A student is given the opportunity to serve the community he/she has inconvenienced, insulted or embarrassed. This restitution may be through assisting a faculty member, Housekeeping, Physical Plant or other campus departments.

Confiscation - The appropriation of certain items from a person or area that could be used later as evidence (drugs, drug paraphernalia, weapons, etc.). Confiscated items are not subject to be returned.

Counseling - If a student appears to be struggling with an issue, which causes him/her to make inappropriate decisions, the student could be referred for counseling on or off campus as part of his/her sanctions at his/her expense.

Disciplinary Dismissal - A student is removed from Greensboro College permanently as a result of one serious violation or a series of violations. Any student dismissed for disciplinary reasons does not have the option to apply for readmission.

Disciplinary Probation - A student is allowed to continue at Greensboro College with the understanding that, for the period of time during which the student is on probationary status, if other violations of the Student Conduct Code occur, the student could face removal from residence halls, Disciplinary Suspension or Disciplinary Dismissal.

Disciplinary Reprimand - A formal warning that, should the behavior in question continue, additional disciplinary action will be taken.

Disciplinary Suspension - A student is removed from Greensboro College for a specified length of time. At the end of the suspension period, the student has the option to apply for readmission (admission is not assumed or guaranteed).

Financial Restitution - A student may be required to pay for items damaged, stolen and/or destroyed as a result of Student Conduct Code violations.

Interim Suspension - In certain circumstances, the Dean of Students, or his/her designee, may impose a College or on-campus housing suspension prior to the meeting before the Student Conduct Council.

1. Interim suspension may be imposed only: (a) to ensure the safety and well-being of members of the College; (b) to ensure the student's own physical or emotional safety and well-being; or (c) if the student poses a definite threat of disruption of or interference with the normal operations of the College.

2. During interim suspension, the student shall be denied access to on-campus housing and/or the campus (including classes) and/or all other College activities or privileges for which the student might otherwise be eligible, as the Dean of Students may determine to be appropriate.

Loss of Housing Privileges – A student may be denied housing on campus as the result of certain violations of the conduct code. In this situation, a student that does not meet the requirements for living off campus would still be required to pay the fees associated with room and board.

Sanctions - Actions assigned by the College as a result of a student's choice to violate the Student Conduct Code.

Social Probation - A student placed on social probation may be prohibited from participating and attending any co-curricular activities and/or events sponsored by the college during the length of probation or until all community restitution hours are completed.

Student Conduct Council - A council of five persons (two students and three faculty and/or staff) who serve as the Judicial Hearing Board for students who have been charged for allegedly violating the Student Conduct Code and do not wish to accept responsibility for their actions.

Student Counsel - A currently enrolled Greensboro College student who may be called upon to support another student appearing before the Student Conduct Council.

Witness - A current Greensboro College student or staff member who has witnessed an incident or has knowledge of an incident in which the Student Conduct Code was violated.
