

The Graduate Academic Catalog of Greensboro College is published annually and describes the graduate program of the College. The Catalog may be accessed online at the following address:

<https://www.greensboro.edu/academics/course-catalog/>

The College reserves the right to change the rules of admission, tuition and fees, and any other regulations affecting the student body or the granting of degrees. The provisions of the Graduate Academic Catalog are not to be regarded as an irrevocable contract between the student and the College.

Students who do not enroll for a semester or more, or who withdrew from the College during a semester in progress, must apply for readmission; if readmission is approved, these students will reenter under the degree requirements which are set forth in the current Graduate Academic Catalog.

Greensboro College also publishes an Undergraduate Academic Catalog which describes the undergraduate programs of the College. It is accessible online at the address listed above.

Vision of Greensboro College

Mission of Greensboro College

Greensboro College, a liberal-arts institution grounded in Methodist tradition of inclusivity, encourages students to pursue a path toward their intellectual, personal, and spiritual goals in life, career, and community as leaders and advocates for a more just world.

History of Greensboro College

Greensborough Female College grew out of an 1830s dream of the Reverend Peter Doub, a Methodist minister who served the Guilford Circuit. Doub, who built the first Methodist Church in Greensboro, built on one side of the church a preparatory school for young women. Though there was not yet a college for women in the United States, Doub began planning for one. The local newspaper, the Greensborough Patriot, asked rhetorically what degrees a woman’s college would award: MPL, Mistress of Polite Literature, perhaps, or Mistress of Petticoat Law? Undaunted, Doub and other Methodists were granted a charter by the state of North Carolina in 1838. The cornerstone of the Main Building was laid in 1843; by 1846, Main was completed, and the College opened its doors for students. Tuition and board for each five-month session was $70. Required courses included not only Latin and Greek but also trigonometry, chemistry, botany, astronomy, and philosophy. The first president of the College, the Reverend Solomon Lea, also served as Professor of Classical Languages. His wife, Sophia, taught music.

The first graduation class (June 1848) consisted of six young women: Sallie Ballou, Henrietta Crump, Laura Crump, Elizabeth Jones, Nannie Morris, Sarah Smith.

Two wings were added to the Main Building, one in 1856, the other in 1859. This building, which served as classrooms and a dormitory, was filled to capacity, even as the War Between the States began. Because funds were scarce, the graduates could not send to New York for their graduation dresses; rather, O. Henry’s grandmother made these dresses out of poplin. Then on August 9, 1863, the College burned; the facility was closed for 10 years although classes met elsewhere. By 1873, the Greensboro Female College again opened its doors.

The turn of the century brought more changes to the College: a woman president (Lucy Robertson, 1902-1913), another fire (1904), a new name (Greensboro College for Women), and the A.B. degree (1913). In 1919 the institution assumed its present name, Greensboro College; in this same year, alumna Nancy Witcher Keen Langhorne entered history as her daughter, Lady Astor, became the first woman to serve in the British Parliament.

Yet a third fire resulted when lightning struck the rotunda of the Main Building in 1941. The rotunda was destroyed and the business manager, H. G. McEntire, was killed. After the fire, the building was restored with a new colonial front, brick terraces and two indoor parlors. Today the Main Building houses administrative offices and the Main Building Center, a central location for special events.

Men were first admitted as full-time students in 1954. In 1968 Bennett, Greensboro and Guilford Colleges began cross-registration. The men’s golf team won its first Dixie Intercollegiate Athletic Conference championship in 1974. Since then, many championship and NCAA playoff teams have competed successfully for conference and national titles.

The 1980s decade was one of growth, with enrollment increasing from 553 to 1116 students between the years 1986 to 1990. The area in which the College is located-- College Hill--became the city’s first historic district. Ground was broken for the first regulation athletic field, and property previously owned by Richardson Real Estate Company at the corner of College Place and West Market Street was acquired to serve as the College’s Welcome Center. The Adult Education Program for independent adults over 23 years of age began in 1985 with 23 students. Adult students now account for a third of the total College enrollment, and graduate programs have been added.

The College currently offers five baccalaureate degrees: the Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Business Administration, Bachelor of Fine Arts, Bachelor of Music Education, and Bachelor of Science degrees. The graduate program offers master’s degrees in Birth-Kindergarten Education; Elementary Education; English as a Second Language; Special Education; Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages; and Religion, Theology, and Culture. Additionally, post baccalaureate programs are offered that lead to students’ obtaining both licensure and graduate degrees in teaching specific disciplines.

Three times, Greensboro College has risen from its ashes, each time stronger than before. Dedicated to providing liberal arts education in its historical context and in preparation for the future, Greensboro College celebrates its 186th year.

Academic Support Services

Office of Academic Accessibility

Greensboro College is committed to providing equal access to College programs to otherwise qualified students with a disability. The College provides reasonable and appropriate accommodations to enrolled students with a permanent or temporary disability to ensure equal access to the academic program and College-administered activities.

Definition and Voluntary Disclosure of Disability

A student with a disability is defined as one who:

- has a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits a major life activity such as walking, seeing, hearing, speaking, breathing, learning, working or caring for oneself,
- has a record of a substantially limiting impairment or is regarded as having such an impairment.

Qualifying physical or mental impairments, either permanent or temporary, may include, but are not limited to: mobility/orthopedic impairments, visual impairments, hearing impairments, speech impairments, specific learning disabilities, attention deficit disorders/attention deficit hyperactivity disorders, psychological disabilities, neurological impairments, traumatic brain injuries or chronic medical conditions such as cancer, diabetes or AIDS.

It is the responsibility of the student with a disability to identify himself or herself prior to receiving services by presenting appropriate documentation to the Director of Academic Accessibility. This should be done as early as possible upon acceptance to the College, or as soon as possible after the manifestation of a temporary disability.

Documentation

Appropriate to the disability, documentation should be current, based on adult norms and include:

- Diagnostic statement identifying the disability using the appropriate DSM-5, ICD-9, or ICD-10 code; date of the current diagnostic evaluation; and the date of the original diagnosis.
- Description of the diagnostic testing or diagnostic criteria used; results of diagnostic tests and procedures used, along with dates tests were administered, and when available, both summary and specific test scores.
- Description of the current functional impact of the disability, or what the effects of the disability are on daily life.
- Recommended accommodations, along with treatments, medications and assistive devices/services currently prescribed or in use.
- Description of the expected progression or stability of the disability over time, particularly the next five years.
- The credentials of the diagnosing professional.

Accommodations and Student Responsibilities:

Once documentation has been provided to the Director of Academic Accessibility, it is the responsibility of the student to make an appointment to review the documentation. Students must qualify for, and assist in the writing of, the Academic Accessibility Plan (AAP). Student input is a critical part of the process in promoting self-awareness and self-advocacy skills necessary for success at the postsecondary level. The student is also responsible for self-advocating regarding individual needs by notifying his/her instructors at the beginning of each course about any disabilities that may require accommodation.

Modification of Course Requirement/Substitution

A student with a disability may request a course modification/substitution if their disability adversely affects their ability to meet course requirements. In every case the student has the responsibility to provide documentation supporting the need for a program to be modified. Requests for accommodations which involve course substitutions are considered and acted upon by the Accommodations Review Board, which is chaired by the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost.

A course modification/substitution request requires the following:

- Students make request known in writing and present appropriate documentation to the Director of Academic Accessibility, who then prepares the case for review by the Accommodations Review Board. A list of required documentation for the case is available in the Office of Academic Accessibility.
- Such requests should be made as early as possible to facilitate accommodations involving specific scheduling. Students who submit requests as late as their junior year should be advised that, in order to complete the particular requested substitution or accommodation, graduation may be delayed.
- The Accommodations Review Board reviews the student's request and the appropriateness of the documentation. Students are responsible if additional documentation, testing, or professional clarification is needed to substantiate a course substitution.
- The Accommodations Review Board determines the appropriateness of the course modification request.
- The Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost communicates the Accommodations Review Board's decision in writing to the Registrar, student's major advisor, and the student.

The Accommodations Review Board also has authority to hear appeals from students who have concerns about the adequacy of accommodations which have been proposed or granted and to make a final determination regarding the accommodation(s) in question. Inquiries about the Accommodations Review Board may be directed either to the Director of Academic Accessibility or the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost.

Modifications to Attendance Policies

Students requesting modifications to attendance policies set forth by individual instructors as an accommodation for a documented disability must do so by following procedures required by the Office of Academic Accessibility. For additional details about procedures for requesting attendance-related accommodations, please contact the Office of Academic Accessibility. Retroactive accommodations are not permissible.

Modifications to Living Arrangements

The Office of Academic Accessibility arranges residential and dining services accommodations for qualified students with disabilities.

First Citizens Bank Global Communication Center

The First Citizens Bank Global Communication Center supports Greensboro College students in their development as versatile communicators in a diverse, media-rich world through a range of services, resources, and programming.

Professional consultants offer assistance in the areas of writing, speaking, and producing digital media projects, with a choice of online or in-person sessions that are free for the Greensboro College community. A web-based appointment system allows students to reserve time slots with our consultants. We also serve walk-ins whenever possible.

Located on the garden level of the James Addison Jones library, center features a video studio; a podcasting studio; a lobby with a video wall; and computers loaded with Adobe and other media software. Video, audio, and portable digital equipment can be checked out with a Pride card. Students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to bring in food and beverages while enjoying the center's comfortable, café-style seating.

In fall and spring semesters, the center delivers diverse programming to promote students' exploration of multimodal communication techniques in academic, professional, and personal contexts. Workshops, reading groups, guest speaker series, the GCC Fellows program, student contests, and external partnerships with the local community offer opportunities to meet new people, make new connections, and refine the soft skills most highly valued in the modern workplace.

James Addison Jones Library

The James Addison Jones Library supports the academic and social community of Greensboro College through a provision of collections totaling approximately 250,000 print and digital books, over 21,000 print and digital journals, sound and video recordings, and music scores. These materials reflect the College's curriculum, promote information literacy and learning amongst a diverse student body, and support faculty teaching, research, and scholarship. Collections include the Levy-Loewenstein Holocaust Collection and Curriculum Materials Center (CMC). The Levy-Loewenstein Holocaust Collection contains over 1,400 publications, art, and artifacts pertaining to the Holocaust and Holocaust history. The CMC houses resources for educator preparation faculty and students.

The Jones Library is open about 90 hours per week during the academic year with extended hours during final exam periods. Staff members are happy to provide reference service, individual and small group instruction, interlibrary loan service, and assistance with other information needs. Greensboro College participates in NC LIVE, a statewide initiative providing access to electronic resources as well as the Triad Area Library Association (TALA). TALA is an agreement between Triad area libraries to extend borrowing privileges to the students, faculty, and staff of all participating Triad libraries.

The PEAK

The PEAK is located on the third floor of Main Building and houses a variety of Academic Support services including academic advising, academic accessibility services, peer tutoring, career services, and more. There are study spaces and computers available for student use, along with assistive technology software. Professional staff in the PEAK work with students individually and in groups to enhance their academic experiences and success. The PEAK's academic support services are free and available for all Greensboro College students.

Campus Life

Cocurricular involvement and leadership activities are valuable supplements to classroom learning. Students take an active role in planning and implementing campus activities. The Office of Student Development provides information to students regarding all activities and ways to be involved.

Athletics

Greensboro College sponsors intercollegiate competition as a member of the NCAA Division III and the USA South Athletic Conference. Sports sponsored include: men's and women's basketball, lacrosse, soccer, swimming, and wrestling; baseball, football, and men's golf; softball, women's triathlon, and women's volleyball; along with co-ed esports. A full range of men's and women's intramural and recreational sports and activities are also offered to all students.

Counseling Services

Counseling Services offers short-term counseling to all currently enrolled Greensboro College students for any personal or interpersonal concerns that may be impacting academic success or emotional well-being. Counseling is free and confidential, and services are typically provided on an individual basis. Sessions are generally 50 minutes in length and scheduled weekly; however, the length, frequency, duration, and type of treatment will be based on each individual's needs. If it is determined that a student needs more intensive or long-term treatment or requires resources or competencies that the College cannot provide, students may be referred to an appropriate off-campus provider at their own expense.

Students entering the College with a diagnosed mental or psychological disorder are encouraged to consult with Counseling Services to discuss strategies for management and treatment both on campus and in the community. Counseling Services is located at 325 Main Building.

Student Health Services

Greensboro College Student Health Center is located on the first floor of the Greensboro building and is available to all current students. The Health Center treats acute illness and injury and is staffed with a Registered nurse and Physician Assistants that are available to see students by appointment. Visits to the Student Health Center are free to students, as are over-the-counter medications provided to them, however there is a charge for outside services, such as lab work, which will be billed directly to the student's health insurance.

Student Health Services offers health related educational programs to all students throughout the year. Programs include free STI/HIV screenings twice a year, blood drives, alcohol and drug education events, tobacco cessation counseling, Safe Spring Break event, STI education as well as many others.

Religious Life

Greensboro College is affiliated with the United Methodist Church and offers an academic and social community that unites the liberal arts and Judeo-Christian values in an atmosphere of diversity and mutual respect. Chapel services are held each Thursday at 11:30 a.m. in Hannah Brown Finch Memorial Chapel. Programs from diverse traditions and a variety of student organizations offer students, faculty, and staff the opportunity to worship, study, serve, and fellowship in order to grow in faith. Religious Life organizations include: Student Christian Fellowship, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Catholic Student Fellowship, Presbyterian Campus Ministry, Episcopal Campus Ministry, Hillel Jewish Fellowship, and other denominational groups.

Residence Halls

The mission of Residence Life at Greensboro College is to provide a focused living and learning environment dedicated to community, education, and safety. Complete residence hall policies are outlined in the Pride Guide.

Village 401

Village 401 is Greensboro College's student-run community service and engagement office. Our name comes from the College's location within the zip code 27401. Greensboro College students, faculty, and staff are encouraged to serve our neighboring community by working with various businesses, organizations, churches, and nonprofits. An urban garden is maintained at the Reynolds Center to provide food for those in need, and community service events are held on campus each semester. Village 401 offers a variety of ways to assist the community in meeting some of its challenges and needs while enhancing liberal arts education with community service.

GENERAL INSTITUTIONAL POLICIES

The policies and procedures presented in this Catalog apply to all graduate students enrolled in both on-ground and online programs unless stated otherwise.

Affirmative Action/Equal Opportunity Policy

Greensboro College is committed to equal opportunity in employment and education and will maintain an environment free of unlawful discrimination. The College will not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, gender, sex, pregnancy, age, marital status, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, genetic information, disability, veteran status or any other basis prohibited by federal, state or local law in recruitment and admission of students, the recruitment and employment of faculty and staff, or the operation of any of its programs. The College complies with the applicable nondiscrimination and affirmative action titles and sections of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Federal Executive Order 11246, Educational Amendments of 1972, Rehabilitation Act of 1973, the Vietnam Era Veterans Readjustment Assistance Act of 1974, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act of 1967, and the Age Discrimination Act of 1975, Equal Pay Act of 1963, Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990, Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act of 2008, as well as all amendments thereto as applicable.

Americans with Disabilities Act

Greensboro College is committed to maintaining an inclusive and accessible environment across campus. The Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) and the Americans with Disabilities Act Amendments Act of 2008 (ADAAA) prohibits discrimination in employment and educational programs against qualified individuals with disabilities. The College provides reasonable accommodations or academic adjustments for such individuals in accordance with the law.

Under the ADA, an individual with a disability means any person who has a physical or mental impairment that substantially limits one or more major life activities of the individual, a record of such an impairment, or being regarded as having such an impairment. "Major life activities" includes caring for oneself, performing manual tasks, seeing, hearing, eating, sleeping, walking, standing, lifting, bending, speaking, breathing, learning, reading, concentrating, thinking, communicating and working.

Volunteering information about a disability will not subject an employee or student to any adverse treatment or penalty. All information concerning disabilities will be considered confidential and will be released only in accordance with the requirements of the ADA and other applicable laws.

Student Accommodation Procedures

It is the responsibility of the individual student to identify himself/herself as an individual with a disability when seeking an accommodation or adjustment. The student is responsible for providing medical documentation (from an appropriately licensed professional) and demonstrating how the disability limits his/her ability to participation in programs or services of the College. Medical documentation will be kept confidential.

The standard procedures for accommodation requests allow for an interactive process whereby the following occurs:

1. To receive an accommodation under the ADA, students must fill out an Accommodation Request Form and have his or her healthcare provider fill out an Accessibility Verification Form. These forms must be returned to the Office of Academic Accessibility. Requests for accommodation should be made far enough in advance to allow staff adequate time to coordinate needed services. Generally it is best to request needed services before a semester begins or as soon as a disability becomes known.
2. The accommodation and any related documentation is maintained by the Office of Academic Accessibility in confidence.
3. The Director of Academic Accessibility makes the determination of whether the student is eligible for accommodations under the ADA. The Director of Academic Accessibility and the student will discuss what assistance is needed and, if requested, will provide information to relevant faculty members and/or personnel indicating the nature of the accommodation required.
4. If there is a discrepancy regarding requested accommodations, the Director of Academic Accessibility will facilitate discussions between the student and faculty members and/or academic department. It is the responsibility of the Office of Academic Accessibility to determine the reasonable accommodation in a particular case, taking into account the content of the course, the student's disability, and the documentation from an appropriate credentialed professional. Nothing in these procedures requires an academic department to fundamentally alter the nature of its academic program.

5. Students are responsible for notifying the Office of Academic Accessibility if reasonable accommodations are not implemented in an effective and timely way.

Drug and Alcohol Abuse Policy

In accordance with the Drug-Free Schools and Communities Act Amendment of 1989 and Drug-Free Workplace Act of 1988, Greensboro College supports and maintains a drug-free living and learning environment and workplace for its students, faculty and staff. As a result, the College strictly prohibits the unlawful manufacture, distribution, dispensation, possession or use of alcohol; illegal drugs; controlled substances and possession of drug paraphernalia by students and employees, including volunteers and guests, on College property or at any College-sponsored event on or off campus. Alcohol may be served at College events with prior authorization. The consumption of alcohol at events when the College has authorized such use is permitted only by individuals of legal drinking age.

Any student failing to comply with the policy constitutes a violation of the Greensboro College Student Code of Conduct and offenders will be subject to sanctions, consistent with local, state and federal law, up to and including suspension or dismissal.

An employee in violation of the policy will be subject to disciplinary action up to and including termination of employment. Employees are required to report any drug- or alcohol-related convictions occurring in the workplace to the College no later than five (5) days after such conviction. Such conviction may also result in termination of employment.

The College reserves the right to pass on information regarding possession, use and/or distribution of illegal drugs and drug paraphernalia by any member of its community to local, state, and federal authorities as required.

Fraternization Policy

Greensboro College holds its faculty and staff to the highest ethical and professional standards. A fraternization policy has been established in order to promote efficient and fair operation of the College and to avoid conflicts of interest, misunderstandings, and complaints of favoritism, supervision problems, morale problems, questions regarding academic achievement, and sexual harassment. The College has enacted the fraternization policy in order to affirm respect for the humanity of all its constituencies and publishes guidelines to protect against violations.

Fraternization is defined as a consensual romantic or consensual sexual relationship between individuals who occupy different levels of authority within the institution. Fraternization also includes dating, pursuing a date, and having or pursuing a romantic or sexual relationship.

The college prohibits supervisors and managers from fraternization with a subordinate, including student employees and interns. The college also prohibits any employee from fraternization with any college employee or intern of lesser authority if the employee with greater authority has responsibility of any kind in reviewing, evaluating, supervising, or determining the performance, compensation, job assignments, or general work of the other individual. The college reserves the right to take whatever action is appropriate, in its discretion, to protect the college's interests in the event of supervisory/subordinate relationships or violation of this policy generally. This may include, among other things, reassignment or dismissal of one or more of the employees or interns involved.

The college also prohibits faculty and staff members from fraternization with students. Such relationships call into question the professional integrity of the faculty or staff member, create an appearance of impropriety, and raise potential conflicts of interest. In addition, such relationships jeopardize the academic freedom of the college community insofar as academic freedom demands an environment in which no person is intimidated, exploited, or coerced. The college reserves the right to take whatever action is appropriate, in its discretion, to protect the college's interests in the event of faculty or staff/student relationships or violation of this policy generally. This may include disciplinary action and including dismissal of the employee involved.

Employees have an obligation to report known fraternization. Reports of fraternization shall follow the same protocols and procedures as the Discrimination/Harassment/Retaliation Policy for employees. The Sexual Harassment Policy and Title IX provisions will apply when relevant.

Inclement Weather

In most weather conditions, Greensboro College will remain open. Non-residential students should use their own discretion in driving to the campus in unsafe weather conditions. When weather or road conditions make travel unsafe, commuters will be excused from classes, but will be responsible for missed work. In the event Greensboro College delays or cancels classes, announcements will be communicated on the GC Alert Emergency Notification System, College website, and local TV stations.

Maintenance and Disposal of Student Records

The Registrar's Office maintains the academic record of each student who enrolled at Greensboro College. Academic records originate in the Admissions Office and include the admission application, high school and/or college transcripts, and other documents that the Admissions Office collects. Once a student enrolls at Greensboro College, the Registrar's Office is responsible for maintaining the record. All documents that are part of a student's record are scanned and saved electronically. After a total of seven years of non-enrollment, students' records are destroyed. Academic transcripts from other institutions are scanned and retained by the College indefinitely, beginning with students enrolled in the Spring 2016 semester. Students who wish to re-enroll after a three or more years absence may need to re-submit official transcripts from all colleges and universities they have attended other than Greensboro College prior to being approved for readmission.

Academic records are stored electronically and permanently in the student information system. The student information system is backed regularly and automatically.

The Student Development Office keeps files on all enrolled traditional students. Contents include, but are not limited to:

- Housing information
- Correspondence to student
- General information
- Copies of correspondence from other offices

Disciplinary records are kept separate from the general student file and are stored in a locked file cabinet, in a locked office. Once the student graduates or withdraws from the College, the records are combined with the general file and archived. Each student's permanent file and disciplinary record is digitized, encrypted, and stored on a password-protected server after the student graduates or withdraws from the College. The hard copy of these records is destroyed. The electronic copy is stored indefinitely.

Files are kept on all students who meet with the Counselor for counseling. Counseling files are kept separately from all student files and are only accessible to the Director of Counseling Services. The files are kept for ten years following a student's exit from the College. After that time the records are shredded and discarded.

Health and immunization records are maintained by the Director of Student Health for all students who are required to comply with state immunization laws. The College nurse (Director of the Health Center) and contracted medical providers have access to these files. For student athletes, the Assistant Director of Athletics for Sports Medicine may also access these records. Each student's medical records after 2015 are stored electronically through a secure third party vendor, Magnus Health. The student maintains access to and control indefinitely over his/her own records submitted through Magnus Health.

Notice of Non-Discrimination

Greensboro College does not discriminate on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin, gender, age, sexual orientation, socio-economic status, or against qualified handicapped persons, disabled veterans or veterans of the Vietnam era as identified and defined by law in the recruitment and enrollment of students, in the recruitment and employment of faculty and staff, or the operation of its programs.

Title IX Statement: Notice of Non-Discrimination

Greensboro College, in accordance with Federal Title IX regulations and our mission, does not discriminate on the basis of sex or gender in its programs, activities, admissions, and employment. Members of the Greensboro College community, guests and visitors have the right to be free from gender-based discrimination and sexual harassment of any kind expressly including stalking, sexual violence, dating violence, domestic violence, and retaliation. Greensboro College is committed to providing a safe and welcoming campus environment.

Questions regarding Title IX may be referred to Greensboro College's Title IX Coordinator or to the U.S. Department of Education Office for Civil Rights.

Political Activities Policy

Internal Revenue Service regulations restrict political activity at Greensboro College and at all other organizations exempt from federal income tax under section 501 (c) (3) of the Internal Revenue Code. The actions of students, faculty, and staff with regard to political activities on campus could affect the College's tax-exempt status.

Greensboro College encourages and supports the involvement of students, faculty and staff in the political process in their capacity as individual citizens. As long as individuals do not present themselves as acting or speaking in their capacity as members of the Greensboro College community, there are no restrictions on their political activity.

The following regulations provide guidance as to acceptable political activity by tax exempt institutions such as Greensboro College.

- The College cannot endorse any candidate, make donations to political campaigns, engage in fund raising, distribute statements or become involved in any activities that may be beneficial or detrimental to any candidate.
- Efforts to educate voters must stay within the Internal Revenue Service guidelines for political campaign activities.
- Whether an organization is engaging in political campaign activity depends upon all the facts and circumstances in each case. For example, organizations may sponsor debates or forums to educate voters. But if the forum or debate shows a preference for or against a certain candidate, it becomes a prohibited activity.

Given the potential consequences of a violation of these regulations to the College, any political activity involving Greensboro College students, faculty and staff that could be construed as being sponsored by the College or which involves the use of College facilities must have prior written approval of the appropriate member of the President's Cabinet.

Release of Educational Records

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA), which is commonly known as the Buckley Amendment, was passed and put into effect in January 1974. The law affords students rights of access to educational records and protects students from the release and disclosure of those records to third parties. Educational records are those records, files and other materials that contain information directly related to a student's academic progress, financial status, medical condition, etc., and are maintained by the College or a party acting on behalf of the College. Educational records, with the exception of those designated as directory information (described below), may not be released without the written consent of the student to any individual, agency or organization other than the following authorized personnel: (1) to parents, if student is a dependent as defined by Section 152 of the Internal Revenue Code of 1954; (2) to Greensboro College faculty and staff who have an educational interest in the student; (3) to officials of other schools in which the student seeks to enroll (transcripts); (4) to certain government agencies specified in the legislation; (5) to an accrediting agency in carrying out its function; (6) in emergency situations where the health or safety of the student or others is involved; (7) to educational surveys where individual identification is withheld; (8) in response to a judicial order; (9) in a campus directory after the student has deletion options; and (10) in connection with financial aid.

A student may request, in writing, an opportunity to review the official educational records maintained by the College. Educational records excluded from student access are (1) confidential information placed in the record before January 1, 1975; (2) medical and psychological information; (3) private notes and procedural matters retained by the maker or substitutes; and (4) financial records of parents or guardian.

Students may challenge any data in their educational record that is considered to be inaccurate or misleading. The student must submit the challenge in writing to the Dean of Students. The Dean of Students and the Dean of the Faculty will review and rule on any challenge.

For more information about educational records maintained by the College, please contact the Dean of Students, Dean of the Faculty, or the Registrar.

The College is permitted to make public certain directory information including a student's name, home town, majors and minors, class (freshman, sophomore, junior, senior, or post baccalaureate/graduate student), degrees being pursued, participation in officially recognized activities and athletic events, height and weight for student athletes, photographs, and academic and other awards earned. Any student who objects to the release of directory information should notify the Registrar's Office in writing.

Transcripts that are received from high schools and other colleges are the property of Greensboro College and are for the College's use only. They will not be copied or released to anyone, including the student.

Privacy Statement for Online Programs and Courses

Because the online environment creates a record of student activity, it is subject to FERPA privacy rights, unlike verbal exchanges in a physical classroom. Thus, the following policies are in effect for students enrolled in online courses and programs.

Greensboro College officials have access to all online courses and the archived course documents in order to carry out their job duties. When students submit information electronically, the information is accessible to the faculty member who is teaching the course and to other Greensboro College personnel on a need to know basis. If a class assignment requires shared information among students, then such compositions of students will be available to other students in the class. The public display of student materials will always be identified by instructors prior to the posting of student materials. Therefore, in online courses, discussions, postings, and some student works are accessible to all students in class. However, public postings and student works will not contain grades or other personal information.

Please take special note that students may not be protected by FERPA if they post on social media sites information related to the course but not assigned as part of a course.

Sexual Harassment Policy

Greensboro College does not discriminate on the basis of sex or gender in its programs and activities and is committed to providing a safe and welcoming campus environment. Greensboro College's sexual harassment policy is intended to uphold that commitment and to meet federal regulations including Title IX of the Education Amendments of 1972, the Violence Against Women Reauthorization Act of 2013, and Title IV of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The policy protects members of the campus community from gender-based discrimination, sexual harassment, and sexual assault of any kind that may create a hostile educational environment. The policy applies to alleged incidents of sexual harassment by a Greensboro College student or employee in the College's education program or activities. For Greensboro College's full sexual harassment policy and other resources, please refer to the Greensboro College website <https://www.greensboro.edu/sexual-harassment/>

Sexual harassment is defined in accordance with Title IX as one (or more) of the following:

- A school employee conditioning the provision of aid, benefits, or services on an individual's participation in unwelcome sexual conduct, commonly known as quid pro quo;
- Unwelcome conduct that a reasonable person would determine is so severe, pervasive, and objectively offensive that it effectively denies a person equal access to the College's education program or activity; or
- Sexual assault (as defined in the Cleary Act) or dating violence, domestic violence, or stalking (as defined in the Violence Against Women Act).

Anyone who has experienced sexual harassment or who has witnessed sexual harassment is strongly encouraged to report the incident to the College. All Greensboro College employees, other than those designated as confidential resources, are considered "responsible employees." When a report of sexual harassment is made to a responsible employee, that employee is required to report the matter to the Title IX Coordinator. Responsible employees at the College include faculty, staff, and student workers—such as Resident Advisors, Residence Hall Directors, coaches, trainers, advisors, student development personnel, and many others. The responsible employee does not need to determine if, in fact, a violation of the policy occurred in order to make a report. Licensed counselors, pastoral counselors, and healthcare providers are not "responsible employees" and are not required to report any information about an incident of sexual harassment to the College.

The Title IX Coordinator oversees the school's response to reports of sexual misconduct, including all investigation and resolution of sexual harassment covered by this policy, and identifies and addresses any patterns or systemic problems revealed by such reports. The Title IX Coordinator at Greensboro College is:

Emily Scott
Title IX Coordinator
231 Main Building
titleix@greensboro.edu
336-272-7102 ext. 5496

Individuals are encouraged to speak directly to the Title IX Coordinator to report incidents of suspected sexual harassment, but they may also contact a responsible employee of the College, including other College administrators, who will refer the matter to the Title IX Coordinator in a timely manner. Greensboro College also provides an anonymous reporting number that accepts messages. That number is 336-217-7259. Reports made to this phone line will be submitted to the Title IX Coordinator for review.

Student and Parent Complaints

Greensboro College recognizes the need to have procedures in place to address and respond to concerns raised by students as well as their parents or guardians. Greensboro College believes the ideal community is one marked by mutual respect and a spirit of collegiality. This means, first, that individuals should make every reasonable effort to resolve disagreements with the person involved before invoking the complaints procedure outlined below.

The following outlines the procedures and responsibilities of both parties with regard to the submission of, and response to, complaints presented to the College. Compliance with these procedures is mandatory. Any complaint submitted to the College that does not meet the following criteria shall be acknowledged as an INFORMAL COMPLAINT and referred to the appropriate administrator.

- I. A FORMAL COMPLAINT shall be defined as any complaint made by a student and/or parent, received in writing, and concerning circumstances not more than one year prior to the date of submission of the complaint. A written complaint may be submitted to the College in person or by U.S. mail and MUST include an official Greensboro College Complaint Coversheet. Complaints may not be submitted by e-mail.
- II. All written student and parent complaints are to be acknowledged by the appropriate administrative office of the College within 15 business days of the receipt of the complaint. The acknowledgment shall indicate if the complaint has been accepted as FORMAL or INFORMAL. The date of receipt should be clearly marked on the written complaint.
- III. All FORMAL COMPLAINTS shall be responded to within 30 business days after acknowledging receipt of the complaint. The Cabinet level official who supervises the administrative office or personnel identified in the complaint will inform the complainant regarding the institutional response to the complaint. The response shall outline the steps that will be or have been taken to resolve the complaint. The decision of the Cabinet Member is final.
- IV. The office of Student Development shall be responsible for collecting and maintaining records of all written complaints, acknowledgments thereof, and official responses to the complainant. The office of Student Development will therefore, monitor institutional compliance with the written complaints policy and be responsible for reporting the result of compliance on an annual basis to the President's Cabinet.

- V. The written complaints policy is distinctly separate from the grievance policy for the following reasons:
 - a. A grievance is a purely academic issue;
 - b. A grievance should be sought as a step toward resolution prior to a formal complaint;
 - c. While every attempt is made to resolve grievances within the semester of the disagreement, formal complaints may be sought up to a year after the disagreement;
 - d. AND while the grievance policy has certain steps outlined to appeal decisions made, the formal complaint may serve as the final appeal.
- VI. All decisions made, in response to formal written complaints, are considered final and not subject to any further appeal.

The President's Cabinet shall be ultimately responsible for the implementation and revision of the written complaints policy. The complaints committee, appointed by the President's Cabinet, shall annually review; the policy, the subsequent results of compliance from the previous year, and recommend any amendments or revisions to the policy.

Student Right-to-Know Act

As required by Title I, section 103 of this Act, the College collects and submits graduation rates for degree-seeking students, first-time, full-time students each year. These data are available from the Office of Institutional Research and may also be retrieved at nces.ed.gov/collegenavigator. Section 104 of the Act does not apply as Greensboro College is a NCAA Division III institution and does not offer athletically-related student aid.

Tobacco-Free Policy

Greensboro College is committed to providing a safe and healthy environment to its students, employees, and guests. With this commitment, the College will provide a tobacco-free campus. Tobacco-free is defined as a total ban on the use of tobacco products including, but not limited to cigarettes, cigars, pipe tobacco, smokeless tobacco products, e-cigarettes, and vapor products, while on the Greensboro College campus or at any Greensboro College-sponsored event. In addition, the College will provide its constituents with information regarding tobacco and nicotine replacement therapy.

All students and employees are expected to adhere to this policy. Student violations will be subject to possible sanctions and employees are subject to disciplinary action for failure to follow the policy.

Whistleblower Policy

Employees and students are encouraged to come forward in good faith with reports or concerns about suspected violations of college policies or illegal practices and may do so without fear of reprisal or retaliation. Any employee or student with a question about the propriety of any practice under the college's policies and procedures should seek guidance from his/her supervisor or the college official who has responsibility for overseeing compliance with the particular policy or procedure.

Any employee or student who becomes aware of or has reason to suspect a violation of college policies or illegal practices should report that violation regardless of whether he/she is personally involved in the matter. Employees or students are encouraged to report any violation of his/her supervisor or the college official who has responsibility for overseeing compliance with the particular policy or procedure. Any complaint regarding financial misconduct should be directed to the Vice President for Business and Finance. Reports received by college officials will be handled with as much confidentiality as possible with discretion and regard for the privacy of the reporting individual.

Report an Incident using Campus Conduct Hotline

Online: Faculty, staff and students can go to https://www.lighthouse-services.com/_StandardCustomURL/LHILandingPage.asp a secure landing page and follow the prompts to make a report. The link can also be accessed on the Greensboro College webpage.

Phone Call: The toll-free hotline is 866-943-5787. An intake specialist will assist you with taking your information to report into the system.

You should call the Campus Conduct Hotline© if you observe or experience any activity or behavior that is harmful, unethical, questionable, or causes you or someone else personal injury. This includes fraud or crime, sexual harassment, discrimination, safety or facility risk issues, security and internet policy abuses, workplace hostility, fraudulent financial or business practices, or any other questionable behavior.

Once you make the report you will follow the process below:

- You will be provided with a randomly generated case number that you should use to check back for updates and requests for additional information. Be sure to write this number down and remember where you put it.
- Within one business-day of your call or online report, a summary of the report will be forwarded to the appropriate campus administrator for investigation. The goal will be to have a basic response back to you in five business days.

- To receive your response, you will need to call back or log back into the system and provide the case number that has been assigned to you. At that time, you might be asked to provide additional information or to check back at a later date. You will be able to keep checking back for updates until your case is closed.

Because of the built-in confidentiality, it is important that you try to be as specific as possible about the information you provide. Alternatively, if you would like someone to contact you directly, you can leave your name along with a phone number or email where and when you would prefer to be contacted.

To repeat, at no time are you required to identify yourself and all information provided can be completely confidential and anonymous.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Graduate and Post-Baccalaureate Programs

Applications and information regarding admissions can be obtained through the Admissions Office; the telephone numbers are (336) 272-7102 or (336) 217-7284. The FAX number is (336) 378-0154; the email address is adults@greensboro.edu. The College's website may be accessed at <http://www.greensboro.edu/>. *NOTE: All candidates seeking licensure must make application to the Educator Preparation Program during either their first semester at Greensboro College or by the completion of nine credit hours of coursework. Students must be admitted to the Educator Preparation Program by the end of their second semester of the initial license program. Applications for admission to the Educator Preparation Program are available from the Office of Educator Preparation, Proctor Hall East, Room 108.

Admission to Greensboro College does not constitute admission to the Educator Preparation Program.

Greensboro College offers additional post baccalaureate programs that lead to teacher licensure in various areas: The Licensure Only Program and the Piedmont Alternative Licensure (PAL) Program. Admission requirements for these programs, which are comprised completely of undergraduate courses, are listed in the Greensboro College Undergraduate Academic Catalog.

Admission Procedures

Applications are available online at www.greensboro.edu/admissions/apply. An application deadline of July 15 is suggested for the fall programs and October 15 for spring programs. All application materials and test scores must be submitted before any admission decision can be made. Therefore, applicants are encouraged to begin the admission process early.

Online Programs

Greensboro College offers graduate degree programs that are completed online. The online degree graduate programs currently offered are:

- Master of Arts (M.A.) in Religion, Theology, and Culture.
- Master of Arts (M.A.) in Bilingual Education
- Master of Arts (M.A.) in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages. Hybrid and on-ground course options may be available at the discretion of the program director.

Graduate online programs follow the standard academic calendar. Students may enter an online program at one of three starting points during the year: August, January, or May/June (depending on the start date of the relevant summer session). The anticipated length of a course is identified by the College prior to the start of each session.

State Authorization

In compliance with the Department of Education guidelines, Greensboro College is unable to offer online programs to students in some states. Therefore, students who reside in these states may not be allowed to enroll in our online programs. Please refer to the website for a complete listing or contact the Office of Admissions for more specific questions at 336-217-7284 or email: adults@greensboro.edu

International Students

Greensboro College welcomes applications from qualified international students for graduate programs. Depending on the program the student intends to pursue, international graduate program students may be required to present acceptable scores from an approved test of English language proficiency. Exceptions may be made by the Dean of Admissions in consultation with appropriate faculty and/or staff.

Transfer Students

A maximum of nine graduate credit hours may be transferred from any other regionally accredited institutions subject to prior approval by the Coordinator of the Graduate Program to which the student is applying. For the Master of Arts in Religion, Theology, and Culture, a maximum of eight graduate credit hours from regionally accredited institutions are allowed. For the Graduate Certificates in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages, a maximum of three graduate credit hours from regionally accredited institutions are allowed. Official transcripts from the credit-granting institution must be submitted. Credit will not be given for grades lower than B or for undergraduate or graduate courses. In addition, M.Ed. candidates must submit any transfer requests to the Course Equivalency Subcommittee of the Educator Preparation Committee. This subcommittee will document program adjustments and submit them to the Educator Preparation Committee for approval.

Special Non-Degree Student Status

A student who has earned a baccalaureate degree from a regionally accredited institution and earned a cumulative grade point average of a minimum 2.0 may take no more than four graduate courses for credit as a “special non-degree seeking student.” Such a student must submit a completed application form and acceptable proof of a baccalaureate degree. The student must subsequently submit a full application to the graduate program and, if accepted, can apply the course credit earned toward the appropriate master’s degree. Taking courses as a non-degree seeking student does not guarantee admission to the graduate program. NOTE: Financial aid and V.A. benefits are not available to a student with special non-degree status.

Summer School

Greensboro College offers two five-week summer sessions that provide opportunities for new, visiting and continuing students to accelerate the completion of their programs.

Visiting students planning to attend summer sessions at Greensboro College must complete an application for summer session. Summer Session offerings, including the application form, are available by the end of March online or from the Admissions Office. Call (336) 217-7284, or visit our website for more information.

Students who were suspended from Greensboro College and wish to attend Summer Session II at Greensboro College should submit an appeal in writing to the Scholastic Standing Committee according to procedures and deadlines specified by the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost. No student under suspension may attend Summer Session I. Enrollment in Summer School does not guarantee readmission to Greensboro College for the following fall semester

Readmission

A student who withdraws from the College in good academic standing may apply for readmission through the Admissions Office. The readmission application will be forwarded to the Readmission Committee for review. Readmission is not guaranteed.

A student who has been suspended for academic reasons may, after one semester, apply for readmission. The application for readmission is available online. Readmission after academic suspension requires the approval of both the Readmission Committee and the Scholastic Standing Committee. Applications for readmission from academically suspended students will not be accepted on or after the first day of classes for the term in which the student is seeking enrollment.

A student who has been suspended for disciplinary reasons may reapply after the time period set forth under the conditions of suspension. The application for readmission is available online. All conditions set forth in the suspension must be satisfied in order for readmission to be considered. Readmission may require several meetings with the Dean of Students, submission of appropriate documentation, and adherence to behavioral sanctions upon readmission.

A student who has taken a medical withdrawal may apply for readmission and must submit documentation from the appropriate health care provider to the Dean of Students verifying the student's health condition and readiness for returning to the College.

A student who has attended other colleges or universities during their absence from Greensboro College must provide all complete, official transcripts before his/her readmission status can be determined. Transfer credit will not be awarded until all official transcripts are on file with the Registrar.

A student who has not been enrolled at Greensboro College for seven or more years and wishes to be readmitted will have only the Greensboro College transcript on file, and thus must provide official transcripts from all colleges and universities he/she has attended prior to readmission.

Students who are readmitted reenter the College under all provisions and the degree requirements of the current Catalog.

FINANCE

Tuition and Fees

The tuition charge for the graduate program is $386 per credit hour.

The tuition charge for students enrolled in the Master of Arts program in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages through a recognized global education program is $365 per credit hour.

Costs are subject to change by the Board of Trustees without notice, but all consideration will be given to alert students of any tuition and fee changes as soon as possible. New tuition and fee rates usually go into effect in August of any calendar year.

Due to FERPA regulations, students are required to deal directly with the Office of Student Accounts for payment of expenses. When a student requests bills to be sent to someone other than herself or himself, the student must so notify the Office of Student Accounts in writing in due time, but this in no way releases the student from liability to established penalties if bills are not paid on the dates advertised. The College will give official written notice of any credit balances to students following withdrawal or completion of College work.

Withdrawal or absences from the College do not at any time release the student from liability for the full semester's charges except at the sole discretion of the College. Costs are subject to change without notice by the Board of Trustees.

Auditing Fee

Students auditing a class shall be assessed tuition charges at the rate of $75 per credit hour.

Background Check Fee

Background checks are required for student teachers. The cost of a background check ($15) will be charged to the student's account if the school system in which the student is teaching does not cover the cost of the background check.

Independent/Directed Study Fee

Students enrolled in an independent study or directed study will incur a fee of $150 per course in addition to their credit hour tuition fees. Courses required for a major and only offered as an independent or directed study are not assessed this fee.

Teacher Licensure Fee

Students seeking teacher licensure will apply on the North Carolina Department of Public Instruction Online Licensure System at this website: <http://vo.licensure.ncpublicschools.gov>. The application fee is not part of the student's account at Greensboro College.

Projected Additional Student Charges Associated with Verification of Student Identity for Online Programs and Courses

At the time of enrollment, online degree students are given the Greensboro College policy notifying them of any projected additional charges associated with verification of student identity.

The College's policy regarding projected additional student charges associated with verification is the following: Online degree students should be aware that at this time Greensboro College anticipates no projected additional student charges associated with verification of student identity. Charges associated with verification procedures have been built into existing tuition.

Terms of Payment

Student accounts must be kept current. When an account is a term past due with no consistent attempt to make payments the student may be sent to a collection agency.

Tuition Payment Plan

As an alternative to a single lump sum payment, students have the option of enrolling in an interest-free Tuition Payment Plan (TPP), administered by the College. This is the only payment plan offered by the College. For more information, contact the Office of Student Accounts by telephone at 1-336-272-7102 ext. 5388 or by email at stuacct@greensboro.edu. This plan can be adjusted and updated at any point during the semester after it is set up. The first payment is due within 24 hours of being confirmed by our office.

Additional costs such as books, lab fees, transportation and personal expenses are not eligible to be included in the Tuition Payment Plan.

Payment Regulations

Greensboro College requires all students to sign a Financial Responsibility Agreement (FRA) annually. This document includes our policies and procedures for billing and collecting payment for tuition and fees. In an effort to increase financial literacy, the FRA will consolidate the financial terms and conditions into a single document. This must be signed by every student in order to register.

The rules regulating payment of all charges assessed by the College are fixed by the authority of the Executive Committee of the Board of Trustees. Waiver, suspension or alteration of these rules may be authorized only by the Executive Committee. Parents and students are expected to be familiar with the preceding section, Terms of Payment.

After admission, students may complete initial registration only after the FRA has been signed. Privileges of class attendance will not be granted until full settlement of charges has been made in the Office of Student Accounts. All accounts must be lower than $500 in order to register for the subsequent term. Additionally, students with an account balance of $500 or more on the last day of class in the current term will be dropped from classes for the upcoming term. Moreover, a student may not be advanced to candidacy for a degree and may not participate in commencement exercises until all indebtedness to the College has been paid in full.

Credit Balances

Students may request to receive their credit balance at anytime after all aid has been posted and is ready to be issued. If a student has a credit balance from funding other than non Title IV funding they can request to use this credit balance for future semesters. If a student has non-Title IV aid and has a credit balance on their account of $25 or less the college will not refund this amount unless the student requests the refund or the student ceases enrollment.

Refund Information

Registration in the College is considered a contract binding the student for charges for the entire semester. However, it is the policy of Greensboro College to give partial refunds in the event students officially withdraw from the College. The term “refund” is defined as a “reduction” in assessed charges. Cash refunds are only available to those having paid accounts. If a student cannot attend Greensboro College for the semester or term for which he/she is registered, and he/she does not follow proper procedures for withdrawing (see Dismissal and Withdrawal Policies and Procedures), a fee equal to 10 percent in fall or spring semesters, or 50 percent in summer sessions, of the tuition that is due upon the end of the drop/add period will be charged to the student’s account.

Students who officially completely withdraw of their own initiative from Greensboro College before the beginning of classes will receive a full refund of tuition, room and board, and academic and student activity fees. Nonrefundable deposits and registration fees will not be refunded. The beginning of classes is defined as the first day on which day classes are scheduled to meet, regardless of when a particular class begins.

After the beginning of classes, students who officially completely withdraw of their own initiative will have their tuition prorated according to the following schedule.

First day of class through the end of Drop/Add period	90% Adjustment
One to seven days past the end of Drop/Add period	75% Adjustment
Eight to fourteen days past the end of the Drop/Add period	50% Adjustment
Fifteen to twenty-one days past the end of the Drop/Add period	25% Adjustment
Twenty-two or more days past the end of the Drop/Add period	0% Adjustment

Fees other than tuition are not subject to proration. Other adjustments may be made to the student’s account at the discretion of the College.

For those students who withdraw and are receiving financial aid through Greensboro College, the refund policy is dictated by federal guidelines. The College must refund the programs from which the student received assistance based on the date of withdrawal and percentage of time enrolled. It is therefore imperative that the student follows proper withdrawal procedures to ensure that a fair and equitable refund calculation can be performed. Once the withdrawal date is established and adjustments have been made in the charges incurred based on the length of enrollment, the Financial Aid Office must reduce the student’s financial aid accordingly and reimburse the programs before any refund to the student can be made.

Refund Policy for Medical Withdrawals

Tuition

Students who officially withdraw completely because of medical reasons during the semester and prior to the midpoint of the semester may select one of the following options:

1. A refund of tuition payments based upon the College’s standard refund policy, or
2. A credit of tuition paid by the student for the semester. This credit may be used only for future tuition payments at Greensboro College; it is not a refundable credit.

Partial Withdrawals

A student who withdraws from one or more courses because of medical reasons but who remains enrolled at Greensboro College shall receive an adjustment for tuition payments based upon the College’s standard refund policy.

FINANCIAL AID

General Requirements

Greensboro College is committed to assisting students, and their families, secure the resources necessary to attend the College through the use of institutional, federal, and state funding in the form of scholarships, grants, loans, and work study. Financial aid is awarded, primarily, on the basis of demonstrated need as a result of filing the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA).

To meet general eligibility requirements to be considered for financial aid, a student must:

- Be enrolled and accepted for enrollment in a program leading to a degree.
- Be making Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) toward a degree.
- Not owe a refund or be in default on a student loan received at any institution.
- Provide a verified Social Security Number.
- Be a U.S. citizen or an eligible non-citizen.
- Demonstrate need or eligibility according to federal guidelines.

In addition to these general requirements, individual programs may have additional requirements specific to that particular program. Examples of these additional requirements are specific grade point average needed to maintain the program, or minimum level of enrollment required to be eligible to receive funding. Students should be familiar with the actual requirements for specific programs which apply to them.

Applying for Federal Financial Aid

All applicants for financial aid should complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). The FAFSA can be completed at www.fafsa.ed.gov. All applicants will need a Federal Student Aid (FSA) username and password to complete the FAFSA.

Sources of Aid

Federal Direct Stafford Loan Program

This federally guaranteed loan program provides funding for students who demonstrate need according to federal guidelines. The student must file the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA) for consideration. Graduate students may borrow up to $20,500 in an unsubsidized Stafford Loan per academic year, with the amount borrowed limited to the cost of education for the program.

Standards of Academic Progress

Statement of Standards

Students are required to maintain standard academic progress and remain in academic good standing to continue eligibility for financial aid. Federal regulations require the College’s Standards of Satisfactory Academic progress to include the following:

Quantitative Measure:

To remain in good academic standing and retain eligibility for financial aid, students must successfully complete at least two-thirds of all credit hours attempted including Pass/Fail, withdrawals, repeated courses, and courses dropped after the last day to drop a course without penalty (as published in the academic calendar).

Qualitative Measure:

Students must maintain the following minimum cumulative grade point average (GPA) on all attempted credit hours.

For credit hours attempted:	A minimum GPA must be maintained:
All graduate students	3.00

Maximum Time Frame:

Federal Aid Programs: For graduate programs of study, the maximum time frame for receipt of federal financial aid must be no longer than 150% of the published length of an educational program. The maximum time limits include all credit hours attempted regardless of whether or not financial aid was received.

Please note that grades of F, FN, NC, W, WF, and WN are not considered satisfactory completion of a course and therefore are not earned credit hours. They will, however, count as attempted credit hours. Greensboro College does not offer remedial or developmental courses and transfer credit is not awarded for any courses that are designated as such.

Transfer Students:

Transfer students are evaluated based on the number of credit hours accepted by Greensboro College. Once transfer credit has been evaluated by the Registrar's Office and the student has been awarded credit hours, then that student will fall under the same quantitative and qualitative requirements as previously mentioned based on that designated classification. Transfer grades are not factored into the student's cumulative GPA for SAP purposes. The maximum time limits for eligibility for federal financial aid also apply to transfer students based on the number of credits accepted by Greensboro College.

Satisfactory Academic Progress Procedures

Academic progress is reviewed at the end of each spring semester. Any student not making Satisfactory Academic Progress (SAP) for financial aid will receive a letter from the Greensboro College Financial Aid Office stating that he or she is no longer eligible to receive aid from any federal or state program. At this point, that student will have two options:

1. Attend Greensboro College using the student's own financial resources and without financial aid, until the minimum requirements of the College's Satisfactory Academic Progress policy have been met
2. Submit a letter of appeal stating the reason(s) why he or she has not met the minimum standards along with any supporting documentation that verifies the circumstances that affected his or her ability to meet the minimum standards. Additional information on the appeal process is provided below.

Appeal Process

A student may submit a written statement of appeal for additional financial assistance if he or she feels that there are special circumstances that prevented him or her from meeting the minimum standards of Satisfactory Academic Progress. Any supporting documents or statements should also be submitted that will provide the Appeals Committee with additional information to their review. The student must also complete and submit the Greensboro College Satisfactory Academic Progress Appeal Request along with the written statement to the Office of Financial Aid. The Satisfactory Academic Progress Appeals Committee will review the request, the written statement, and any other submitted documentation to determine if the student can meet satisfactory academic progress standards by the end of the next term and thereby be placed on Financial Aid Probation for one term. If the Committee determines that the student cannot meet the required standards after completion of one term, he or she will be given the option of submitting an Academic Plan for Improvement.

Additional information on the Academic Plan for Improvement is provided below. All students will be notified in writing of the Appeals Committee's decisions. Please note that if approved, only one semester of financial aid eligibility can be offered without the submission of an Academic Plan for Improvement. The student must meet the minimum standards of Satisfactory Academic Progress by the end of the approved semester to retain eligibility. If the student does not improve the deficiencies within that approved semester, the student will no longer be eligible for financial aid from the College until the minimum requirements are met or an Academic Plan for Improvement is submitted and approved.

Academic Plan for Improvement

If the student does not have valid reasons for submitting an appeal based on special circumstances, or if more than one semester is needed to bring up his or her academic progress deficiencies, then submitting an Academic Plan For Improvement is required. The Academic Plan is a strategy that presents the student's goals to "get back on track" and meet the Standards of Academic Progress (SAP) while completing degree requirements. The plan will have strict conditions that the student must follow in order to retain eligibility for financial aid. Following the Academic Plan For Improvement provides additional semesters of financial aid eligibility provided the student is meeting the conditions of the Plan.

It is imperative that any student not making Satisfactory Academic Progress understands that failure to submit a successful appeal for Financial Aid Probation or an approved Academic Plan For Improvement to the Appeals Committee will mean that no further financial aid will be awarded to that student for future semesters of enrollment. It is necessary that immediate action be taken upon a student's receipt of the notification that he or she is not making Satisfactory Academic Progress.

Withdrawal, Refund, and Repayment Policies

Withdrawal Policy and Refunds

Students who are planning to withdraw before completing a term must start the process in the Student Development Office. (Consult the sections of the Catalog entitled Refund Information and Dismissal and Withdrawal Policies and Procedures.) The student will initiate a Withdrawal Form, and the student will take the form to the Student Accounts and Financial Aid Offices before returning the form to the Student Development Office to complete. Failing to withdraw officially from Greensboro College could impact future enrollment and eligibility for financial aid. Students who do not officially withdraw and are registered for subsequent terms will be billed by the Student Accounts Office and will be responsible for the balance. Once the Withdrawal Form is completed by all parties, the Financial Aid Office will complete a Return of Title IV Funds (R2T4) through the Department of Education's (DOE) software. The DOE will collect information about the student, including the effective withdrawal date. The withdrawal date and the length of time enrolled will determine what financial aid can be kept on the student's account, and what financial aid must be returned to the DOE and/or the State. If there is a 90%, 75%, 50%, or 25% adjustment to the student's charges, the same adjustment will apply to any institutional aid. Once the amount that must be refunded to the Title IV programs is determined, the funding will be returned in the following order:

1. Unsubsidized Federal Direct Loan
2. Subsidized Federal Direct Loan
3. Federal Direct PLUS Loan
4. Federal Pell Grant
5. Federal SEOG
6. Other Title IV programs
7. Other federal, state, or private programs
8. Institutional programs
9. Student/Family

Repayment Policy

When a refund is made to a student because financial assistance exceeded the direct institutional charges placed on the student's account and the student withdraws, some of the refund given to the student may be required to be repaid to the College to be refunded back to the programs. The amount to be repaid is dependent on the percentage of time enrolled and the amount of assistance received.

Financial Aid Consequences of Withdrawal from a Term

A return of federal and state funds calculation must be performed when any student who received or was eligible to receive, federal aid ceases to attend all classes in a term prior to completing the term. Students are awarded aid with the assumption that they will complete the entire period for which assistance was provided. When a student withdraws from a term, federal and state regulations require the College to determine whether funds must be returned based on the number of days actually completed versus the number of days the student was scheduled to attend within the period.

ACADEMIC POLICIES AND PROCEDURES

General Information and Policies

Academic Honor Code

All academic endeavors at Greensboro College are based on the expectation and assumption that each student will uphold the highest principles of honesty and fairness. This expectation and assumption finds expression in the Academic Honor Code, which every student is committed to uphold.

1. The Academic Honor Code

Every student is honor bound to refrain from cheating.

Every student is honor bound to refrain from plagiarizing.

Every student is honor bound to refrain from lying.

Every student is honor bound to refrain from misusing library, laboratory or computer equipment or materials.

Every student is honor bound to refrain from disruptive classroom behavior.

Every student is honor bound to comply strictly with all examination and testing procedures as may be prescribed by the College, the faculty or individual members of the faculty.

Every student is honor bound to report Academic Honor Code violations.

2. Administrative Procedural Guidelines

The following procedural guidelines have been established to assist those involved with alleged violations of the Academic Honor Code in carrying out their responsibilities.

A faculty member who suspects that a violation of the Academic Honor Code has occurred may first wish to consult faculty who have expertise in a particular area. For example, one may consult the chair of the writing program if the suspected violation is plagiarism. If a faculty member suspects that a violation has occurred, he/she must complete the Honor Code Violation Report Form and contact the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council by email. At that point the co-chairs will determine whether or not the student has previously accepted responsibility or been found responsible for a violation of the Academic Honor Code. If the student has previously been found in violation of the Academic Honor Code, the matter is referred to the Academic Honor Council. If not, the faculty member will discuss the possible violation with the student or request that the student be referred to the Academic Honor Council.

I. Procedures to be followed if a faculty member chooses to discuss the matter with the student:

The faculty member contacts the student with the alleged violation and arranges for a conference to discuss the possible violation of the Academic Honor Code. The faculty member completes the Honor Code Violation Report Form and meets with the student.

- a) If the faculty member determines that no violation of the Academic Honor Code has occurred, then no further action is taken and no Honor Code Violation Report Form is submitted.
- b) If the student accepts responsibility for the alleged violation and if the student has not previously accepted responsibility or been found responsible for a violation of the Academic Honor Code, the faculty member may determine the consequences for the violation, up to and including the assignment of a failing grade in the course. The faculty member completes the Honor Code Violation Report Form, obtains the student's signature acknowledging his or her responsibility for the violation and acceptance of the penalty, and forwards the form to the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council. The co-chairs file the Honor Code Violation Report Form.
- c) If the student declines to accept responsibility for the alleged violation the matter is referred to the Academic Honor Council. The faculty member completes the Honor Code Violation Report Form and forwards it to the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council. The co-chairs will follow the procedure stated below in section IIIa.
- d) If the faculty member is unable to reach the student or the student fails to meet with the faculty member and therefore fails to sign the Academic Honor Code Report Form, the completed Academic Honor Code Report Form will be sent to the co-chairs who will follow the procedure stated below in IIa.

II. Procedures to be followed if a faculty member chooses not to discuss the matter with the student and chooses to have the matter handled by the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council:

- a) The faculty member completes the Honor Code Violation Report Form and forwards it to the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council. The co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council will serve as the faculty member and notify the student in writing of the alleged violation. This notification will contain the time and date of a meeting. At the meeting, the student may accept or decline responsibility for the violation. If the student accepts responsibility, the co-chairs set the penalty, obtain the signature of the student and complete the Honor Code Violation Form. If the student declines to accept responsibility for the alleged violation the co-chairs convene the Honor Council. If the student fails to attend the meeting, that action will be treated as acceptance of responsibility for the alleged violation. The penalty will be determined by the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council and the Honor Code Violation Form will be completed.

III. Procedures to be followed if the student is referred to the Academic Honor Council. Students are referred to the Academic Honor Council if they have a previous violation on record, if they have declined responsibility for an alleged violation, or if they have failed to attend the meeting with the faculty member.

- a) Administrative Conference: The co-chairs will arrange an Academic Honor Council administrative conference with the student to review the allegation and explain the Academic Honor Council procedures. The student shall be informed during this conference of the options available for resolution of the allegation. If the student fails to attend the meeting, that action will be treated as acceptance of responsibility for the alleged violation. The penalty will be determined by the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council and the Honor Code Violation Form will be completed. If one of the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council is the faculty member making the allegation, or if both of the co-chairs are unavailable, the alternate from the Academic Deans Council will serve as co-chair.
- b) Academic Honor Council Conference: Honor Council members are convened to meet with the student to discuss the alleged violation. If the student is found in violation of the Honor Code and accepts responsibility for the alleged violation, the Honor Council will determine the appropriate penalty. If the student does not accept responsibility for the alleged violation but is found to be in violation of the Honor code, the Honor Council will determine the appropriate penalty. Failure to attend the conference with the Honor Council will be treated as acceptance of responsibility for the violation of the Honor Code.

3. Academic Honor Council Composition

The Academic Honor Council is composed of three members of the faculty. Two members of the Academic Deans Council serve as co-chairs, and one faculty member is elected by the faculty at large. An additional member of the Academic Deans Council is selected to serve as an alternate for the co-chairs, and an alternate faculty member representative for the third Honor Council seat is also elected by the faculty.

4. Honor Council Procedures

A. Rights of Students in Academic Honor Council Proceedings.

- 1. To receive notice of alleged violations from the faculty member involved and/or one of the co-chairs of the Honor Council.
- 2. To receive notice of the date, time and place of the administrative conference and meeting with the Academic Honor Council.

3. To have a Greensboro College student council representative present at the meeting with the Academic Honor Council to serve as a student advocate.
4. To offer witnesses to the alleged violation(s) on his or her behalf before the Academic Honor Council.
5. To speak on his or her behalf.
6. To have an explanation of the decision reached by the Academic Honor Council.

A student who believes that the provisions of this section have not been followed should notify the Dean of the Faculty in writing. Upon receipt of such a complaint, the Dean of the Faculty will investigate the matter and take appropriate action. The student shall be notified in writing of the Dean of Faculty's decision regarding the complaint.

B. Guidelines for Meetings of the Academic Honor Council.

1. Meetings of the Academic Honor Council are closed to the public. In addition to the members of the Honor Council, only the following are allowed to attend: the student alleged to have violated the Academic Honor Code, the Greensboro College student council representative serving as a student advocate, and witnesses or persons who have been asked to speak to the Council. All proceedings of the Academic Honor Council are considered strictly confidential.
2. Cases are handled as they are received by the Academic Honor Council. Normally, the Honor Council meets only during the fall and spring semesters. Alleged violations of the Academic Honor Code that occur or are reported during final exam time or the summer and require consideration by the Academic Honor Council may be deferred until the beginning of the next semester. If the Honor Council cannot be convened, the student may petition the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost to convene an emergency appointed Council.

5. Reporting an Infraction as a Student

Acknowledging an Honor Code violation is the first step in correcting it. A student who witnesses or has knowledge of a violation must report the violation to the course instructor involved, to the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council or to the Dean of the Faculty. Any student who witnesses or has knowledge of a violation of the Academic Honor Code may also choose to discuss the alleged violation with the offending student.

6. Penalties

Any violation of the Academic Honor Code is extremely serious. During the conference with the involved faculty member, should the student acknowledge a violation, the faculty member teaching the course in which the violation occurred may impose penalties up to and including the imposition of a failing grade in the course. If the case is referred to the Academic Honor Council, the Council may, after review, impose penalties including, but not limited to: a warning, the imposition of a failing grade in the course, suspension for one or more semesters, and/or dismissal from the college. At its discretion, the Academic Honor Council shall determine the beginning and ending dates of any suspension. Any student suspended from the college for an Academic Honor Code violation must reapply for admission. Readmission must be approved by both the Scholastic Standing Committee and the Readmission Committee. Penalties of suspension and dismissal result in notations on the student's official academic transcript, indicating that a violation of the Academic Honor Code was the reason for the suspension or dismissal. If the accused student is found to have violated the Academic Honor Code and receives a penalty involving suspension or dismissal, the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost shall review the matter. If the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost agrees with the penalty recommended by the Honor Council, then the student receives the penalty. The Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost may, in his or her sole discretion, impose a penalty different from the penalty determined by the Academic Honor Council and/or change the beginning and ending dates of any suspension set by the Academic Honor Council. There shall be no appeal of the Academic Honor Council decisions, except as provided herein. During any period of suspension for a violation, a student may not be present on campus, may not receive credit toward graduation from Greensboro College for courses taken at any institution, and may not participate in College functions or student activities.

7. Records

The files of the Academic Honor Council are considered confidential and access normally is restricted to the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council, the President of the College, the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, the Dean of the Faculty, and the Executive Assistant to the Dean of the Faculty. Members of the Academic Honor Council will have access to these files as necessary.

8. Faculty/Academic Honor Council Administrative Procedures

- A. Faculty members will complete the Honor Code Violation Report Form and forward written communications concerning alleged violations to the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council.
- B. The co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council will convene an administrative conference with the student. The student will be notified in writing of the alleged violation and the date, time, and place of the conference. Every effort will be made to contact the student including certified mail if needed.
- C. Written reports of correspondence and administrative conferences, including ones in which the student accused of a violation of the Academic Honor Code did not attend, will be prepared by the co-chairs of the Academic Honor Council and added to the student's file. Actions of the Honor Council are reported on the Honor Council Conference Report Form which is then filed in the student's file.

- D. When necessary, the co-chair of the Academic Honor Council will report any decisions/penalties to the Dean of the Faculty—those reached/imposed both by individual faculty members and by the Academic Honor Council. The co-chairs will document the actions of the Honor Council on the Honor Council Conference Report Form which will be placed in the student's file.
- E. Co-chairs will report actions of the Academic Honor Council to the faculty at the beginning of each semester.

Policy on Granting Credit Hours

Academic credits are awarded to students upon the successful completion of approved instructional courses, or by the demonstration of competency, demonstration of proficiency, or fulfillment of learning outcomes equivalent to that provided by an approved instructional course, as provided for by other credit granting policies established by the institution and stated in this Catalog.

Academic credit is the measure of the commitment a student is expected to devote to learning for every week of study. Emerging delivery methodologies may necessitate determining a unit of undergraduate or graduate credit through non-seat-time-based methods. Such courses shall use demonstration of competency, demonstration of proficiency, or fulfillment of learning outcomes to insure they are equivalent to courses traditionally delivered in the classroom. Regardless of the method used to determine undergraduate and graduate academic credit, the quality of student learning is the primary concern of all Greensboro College faculty and administrators for awarding academic credit. Quality of learning requires continuous evaluation and assessment of student learning outcomes to justify awarding academic credit. It is Greensboro College's policy that quality of learning requires regular student attendance and participation in an academic experience to justify awarding academic credit.

Credit hours refer to academic work successfully completed by students. Credit hours awarded represent the accomplishment of intended learning outcomes that are verified by evidence of student achievement. The policy on credit hours granted is an institutionally established equivalency that reasonably approximates not less than:

- (1) for undergraduate courses, one hundred and eighty minutes of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of four hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for four hours of credit, or the equivalent amount of work over a different amount of time; or
- (2) for graduate courses, one hundred and eighty minutes of classroom or direct faculty instruction and a minimum of six hours of out-of-class student work each week for approximately fifteen weeks for three credit hours of credit, or the equivalent amount of work over a different period of time or different credit hours available per course; or

- (3) at least an equivalent amount of work as required in paragraphs (1) and (2) (above) for other academic activities or instructional modes of delivery as established by the institution, including distance education, hybrid courses, face-to-face professional instruction, laboratory work, internships, independent and directed studies, practica, art and theatre studio work, music ensembles and lessons, student teaching fieldwork and student teaching experiences, and other academic work leading to the award of academic credit hours.

Alternative forms of credit are awarded in accordance with several traditional means of evaluation. These means of evaluation include Advanced Placement Examinations (AP), UExcel Examinations, internal challenge examinations, College level Examination Program (CLEP), Defense Activity for Non-Traditional Education Support (DANTES), portfolio review (experiential credit), institutional credit, and Reserve Officers' Training Corp (ROTC). Academic credit may also be awarded for military service and National Guard service training contingent on receipt and review results of an official American Council on Education (ACE) report. Awarding of academic credit for alternative experiences and activities is contingent upon the evaluation of meeting established learning outcomes. (Please see the section of the Catalog titled Alternative Forms of Credit.)

Academic credit is established by the faculty of the College and approved by the academic administration, and if necessary, the Board of Trustees, of the College through our established curriculum review processes. Faculty submit proposals for the establishment of new courses and programs, the deletion of courses and programs, and modifications to courses and programs as an essential element of learning outcomes assessment. Their proposals are submitted to the Curriculum and Instruction Committee (CIC), composed of duly elected faculty from each of the five academic schools and chaired by the chief academic officer of the College. Librarians, information technology specialists, the Registrar, personnel from our academic advising and support unit, and people with other expertise sit on this committee as non-voting human resources. The agenda and proposals of the CIC meetings are posted electronically for public review and all CIC meetings are open to the entire College community. Proposals are then reviewed for substantive content, including all justifications for the amount of credit to be attached to a course or other academic experience. Peer review of proposals results in several possible actions including referral of the proposal back to its authors for clarification or more information, deferral of the proposal for cause, a denial of recommendation of the proposal to the faculty for reasons that are stated, or recommendation that the faculty adopt the proposal as submitted or as amended during the CIC deliberations. If recommended to the faculty for adoption, the proposal is then re-posted in its extant form for review by the entire faculty. During a faculty meeting, the entire faculty then deliberate on the recommended proposal from CIC. The faculty may then vote to refer, defer, deny, or adopt the proposal – as recommended or as amended on the floor of Faculty Meeting. All justifications and explanations provided for the granting of academic credit upon successful completion of the course or academic experience are again reviewed by the faculty during the last step in the process of institutionalizing modifications to the College's curriculum. Established course credit may only be modified by an academic unit through our curriculum policies and procedures. When modifications to academic credit are proposed, the standards outlined in the policies for the awarding of academic credit established by the institution and presented above in this section in paragraphs (1) and (2) are followed during all procedures.

Policies on granting credit hours are reviewed by the Curriculum and Instruction Committee, the faculty as a whole, and the academic administrators of the College.

FERPA Privacy Information for Online Courses and Programs

Greensboro College complies fully with The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act of 1974 (FERPA). This act protects the privacy of educational records. For additional information, see the sections of this Catalog entitled Release of Educational Records and Release of Student Information.

The Family Educational Rights and Privacy Act is a federal law that requires colleges to (1) give students access to their education records, and (2) keep personally identifiable education records confidential with respect to third parties. Because the online environment creates a record of student activity, it is subject to FERPA privacy rights, unlike verbal exchanges in a physical classroom. Thus, the following policies are in effect for students enrolled in the online programs and individual online courses.

Greensboro College officials have access to all online courses and the archived course documents in order to carry out their job duties. When students submit information electronically, the information is accessible to the faculty member who is teaching the course and to other Greensboro College personnel on a need to know basis. If a class assignment requires shared information among students, then such compositions of students will be available to other students in the class. The public display of student materials will always be identified by instructors prior to the posting of student materials. Therefore, in online courses, discussions, postings, and some student works are accessible to all students in class. However, public postings and student works will not contain grades or other personal information.

Please take special note that students may not be protected by FERPA if they post on social media sites information related to the course but not assigned as part of a course.

Authentication Procedures for Online Courses and Programs

The College demonstrates that the student who registers for online courses and programs is the same student who participates in and completes the course or program and receives the credit for the courses. The College verifies the identity of all students who participate in coursework by using a multi-factor authentication system to gain access to its technology resources.

All students will be issued a username and password for use the College's student information system and the email platform (Microsoft Outlook 365), through which students can access the learning management system (Moodle). After entering the correct password, the student will be prompted to enter a code, sent via text or through an authenticator application, usually on the student's cell phone, which then executes a final biometric test of the identity of the user. This is a single sign-on procedure that provides access to a range of technology resources at the college. Though an individual device can remain signed-on, periodic demands to reverify the identity of user are required by the system.

Online courses primarily use Moodle as a platform for course assignments, discussions, postings, and other activities, and students will be provided login information for secure entry for each course. Work submitted by students in online courses may also be subject to authentication. Typically, this authentication will occur with major grading events such as tests and then randomly throughout the session. If instructors desire an additional level of authentication they will request this action through the Vice President for Information Technology. In the event that a student does not properly authenticate her or his identity when requested, then that student's access to course work shall be blocked. The instructor, in conjunction with the Vice President for Information Technology, will then investigate to determine if a charge of violation of academic honor code is warranted. The investigation into authentication failures will be initiated within 72 hours of the event and a finding delivered within one week of the event. College procedures regarding the reporting and administration of charges of academic honor code violation are found in the section of this Catalog entitled Academic Honor Code.

Greensboro College anticipates no projected additional student charges associated with verification of student identity. Charges associated with verification procedures have been built into existing tuition.

Grievance Procedures

The ideal academic community is one that is marked by mutual respect and a spirit of collegiality. This goal can be achieved only when all members of the community -- students, faculty, administrators, and staff -- commit themselves to act in accordance with these principles. In addition, all members of the community must commit themselves to resolve their differences with one another in such a way as not to tear the fabric that holds the community together. This means, first, that individuals should make every reasonable effort to resolve disagreements with the person involved (and that the Dean of the Faculty ascertains that all parties have met and that all steps have been taken to resolve the disagreement) before invoking the grievance procedures outlined below. It also means that the individual initiating the grievance has the responsibility to be truthful and accurate and respectful of the rights of those named in the grievance. Finally, insofar as is possible, confidentiality should be maintained by all those involved in the process.

It is the responsibility of the individual who first receives notification of a disagreement (i.e., department chair, school dean, etc.) to ascertain that all parties have met and that a reasonable effort has been made to resolve the disagreement. If such effort has not been made, the individual will notify the Dean of the Faculty, who will take steps to ensure that this expectation is met. The grievance procedures outlined in this document are limited to those involving faculty members and students. Grievance procedures involving other members of the College community are detailed in other College documents. In addition, all grievances related to sexual harassment shall be handled according to the procedures set forth in the College's policy on Sexual Harassment. Every effort shall be made to complete the grievance process during the semester the grievance is lodged. If resolution has not occurred, the process shall continue even during the periods that the College is not in session until resolution occurs and everyone involved has been notified.

The intent of these grievance procedures is to resolve disagreements, including grade challenges, by utilizing the personnel of the College. However, if any party to a grievance or the College itself intends to have legal counsel present at a meeting that takes place pursuant to these procedures, that party shall notify, at least 72 hours in advance, the other principals in the grievance who also are scheduled to attend that meeting so that those principals also may be accompanied by legal counsel should they so desire. Legal counsel may act in an advisory capacity only.

1. Student-Faculty Grievances Initiated by the Student

- A. The student should make every reasonable effort to resolve disagreements with the faculty member involved before invoking the grievance procedures outlined below. The student must, as soon as possible after the occasion of the disagreement, seek to meet personally with the faculty member to resolve the disagreement. The student with the grievance may be accompanied by another member of the College community if he or she so desires.
- B. Should every effort to resolve the disagreement fail, then the department chair, with notification or referral to the school dean, shall act as mediator of a discussion between the faculty member and the student.
- C. Should such mediation fail, or should the faculty member or student refuse such mediation, the student shall submit the grievance in writing to the chair of the department in which the faculty member is teaching, with a copy to the Dean of the Faculty, no later than thirty calendar days after the date grades have been mailed for the semester or term during which the occasion for grievance occurred. The faculty member against whom the grievance has been submitted shall have access to the written complaint. If the chair of the department in which the faculty member is teaching is not available to expedite resolution of the written grievance, the Dean of the Faculty, with the approval of the faculty member, shall designate the school dean to consider the grievance.
 - (i) If the faculty member is the department chair, the student should contact the dean of the school in which the department chair teaches.

- (ii) If the faculty member is the dean of the school, the student should contact the Dean of the Faculty, who shall select another school dean to consider the grievance.
- (iii) If the faculty member is not affiliated with a school, the student should contact the Dean of the faculty, who shall select a school dean to consider the grievance.
- (iv) If the instructor is a staff member, the student should contact the Dean of the Faculty who shall select a school dean to consider the grievance.
- (v) If the faculty member is the Dean of the Faculty or the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, the chair of the Faculty Affairs Committee shall convene a meeting of all school deans to consider the grievance.
- (vi) If the faculty member is the President, the student should contact the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, who shall notify the Chairman of the Board of Trustees to consider the grievance.

In all such grievance cases, upon receipt of a written complaint, a full copy of these procedures shall be distributed by the appropriate aforementioned designated personnel to all parties directly involved in the grievance. In addition, a copy of the student's complaint shall be sent to the faculty member by certified mail, return receipt requested.

- D. The department chair (or others as described above) shall meet with the parties involved, appropriate witnesses, and others whose knowledge may be relevant to the case. Following this, the department chair shall render judgment in writing and submit such via certified mail, return receipt requested, to the student, the faculty member and the Dean of the Faculty. This judgment shall be rendered within thirty calendar days after the grievance has been submitted to the department chair.
- E. Either the student or the faculty member may appeal the judgment of the department chair by indicating such in writing to the Dean of the Faculty. Any appeal must be made in writing within seven calendar days after receipt of the department chair's judgment. After consultation with all involved parties, the Dean of the Faculty shall render judgment and submit such in writing via certified mail, return receipt requested within seven calendar days to the conflicting parties and the department chair. If the faculty member is the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost or the Dean of the Faculty, the decision of the school deans shall be communicated in like manner to the student and the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, the Dean of the Faculty, and the President of the College.
- F. Grievance cases that are unfounded, unsubstantiated, and inconclusive shall not be committed to the personnel file of the faculty involved.

G. Student-Requested Grade Changes

- (i) Once the student has consulted with the course instructor concerning the grade within 30-calendar days a student should employ the grievance procedures described above.
- (ii) Requests after thirty calendar days:
 - a. To request a grade change any time after thirty calendar days after the start of the fall or spring semester following the semester in which the grade was posted, the student must file a Petition for Exception to Academic Policy.
 - b. The Academic Deans Council shall review the petition to request a grade change after the time limit and make a judgment concerning the validity and appropriateness of the request.
 - c. Should the Academic Deans Council decide that the request is reasonable and appropriate, the Academic Deans Council shall make a judgment to change or not change the student's grade if the grade change involves exceptions to procedural guidelines (e.g. changing an "F" to a "W" or changing a "P" to a letter grade after the time limit for such changes). If the grade change request involves an evaluation of a student's work for a course in determining the grade, the Academic Deans Council shall direct the student to follow the steps outlined in this policy (I. A.-F.) for requests made within thirty calendar days of the start of the fall or spring semester following the semester in which the grade was posted. (Requests for grade reviews prior to thirty days follow normal grievance procedure discussed above.)

2. Faculty-Student Grievances Initiated by the Faculty Member

- A. The faculty member should make every reasonable effort to resolve disagreements with the student involved before invoking the grievance procedures outlined below. The faculty member should, as soon as possible after the occasion of the disagreement, seek to meet personally with the student to resolve the disagreement.
- B. Should every effort to resolve the disagreement fail, then the department chair, with notification or referral to the school dean, shall act as mediator of a discussion between the faculty member and the student.
- C. Should such mediation fail, or should the faculty member or student refuse such mediation, the faculty member shall submit the grievance in writing to the chair of the department in which the faculty member is teaching, with a copy to the Dean of the Faculty, no later than thirty calendar days after the date grades have been mailed for the semester or term during which the occasion for grievance occurred. The student against whom the grievance has been submitted shall have access to the written complaint. If the chair of the department in which the faculty member is teaching is not available to expedite resolution of the written grievance, the Dean of the Faculty, with the approval of the faculty member, shall designate the school dean to consider the grievance.

- (i) If the faculty member is the department chair, the faculty member should contact the dean of the school in which the department chair teaches.
- (ii) If the faculty member is the dean of the school, the faculty member should contact the Dean of the Faculty, who shall select another school dean to consider the grievance.
- (iii) If the faculty member is not affiliated with a school, the faculty member should contact the Dean of the Faculty, who shall select a school dean to consider the grievance.
- (iv) If the instructor is a staff member, the instructor should contact the Department Chair or Program Coordinator who shall consider the grievance.
- (v) If the faculty member is the Dean of the Faculty or the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, the chair of the Faculty Affairs Committee shall convene a meeting of all school deans to consider the grievance.
- (vi) If the faculty member is the President, the faculty member should contact the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost who shall notify the Chairman of the Board of Trustees who shall consider the grievance.

In all such grievance cases, upon receipt of a written complaint, a full copy of these procedures shall be distributed by the appropriate aforementioned designated personnel to all parties directly involved in the grievance. In addition, a copy of the faculty member's complaint shall be sent to the student by certified mail, return receipt requested.

- F. The department chair (or others as described) shall meet with the parties involved, appropriate witnesses, and others whose knowledge may be relevant to the case. Following this, the department chair shall render judgment in writing and submit such via certified mail, return receipt requested, to the student, the faculty member and the Dean of the Faculty. This judgment shall be rendered within thirty calendar days after the grievance has been submitted to the department chair.
- G. Either the student or the faculty member may appeal the judgment of the department chair by indicating such in writing to the Dean of the Faculty. Any appeal must be made in writing within seven calendar days after receipt of the department chair's judgment. After consultation with all involved parties, the Dean of the Faculty shall render judgment and submit such in writing via certified mail, return receipt requested within seven calendar days to the conflicting parties and the department chair. If the faculty member is the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost or the Dean of the Faculty, the decision of the school deans shall be communicated in like manner to the student and the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, the Dean of the Faculty, and the President of the College.

- H. Grievance cases that are unfounded, unsubstantiated, and inconclusive shall not be committed to the personnel file of the faculty involved.

Grievances involving violations of the Academic Honor Code or disruptive behavior in the classroom shall be submitted to the Academic Honor Council and considered according to the policies and procedures of the Academic Honor Council. The faculty member may suspend a disruptive student from class pending a hearing. College procedures regarding the reporting and administration of charges of academic honor code violation are found in the section of this Catalog entitled Academic Honor Code.

Grievances involving non-academic behavior shall be handled according to the provisions of the Student Code of Conduct. Please see the Pride Guide: Student Handbook for more details about student conduct and due process.

Procedures for Course Enrollment, Attendance, and Examinations

Academic Advising

The academic advising program at Greensboro College enables students to plan and implement an academic program that supports individual interests and objectives. Students are assigned an academic advisor when they enter Greensboro College. Advisors may assist students with registration procedures, academic planning, and interpreting College policies. It is students' responsibility to make certain they meet all graduation requirements.

Academic Calendar

The standard Greensboro College calendar is based on the semester system. The fall semester begins in August and ends in December. The spring semester begins in January and ends in May. A full time course load is at least 6 credit hours per semester for graduate students. The summer term is composed of two five-week sessions. Short sessions within each term accommodate special programs. The complete standard calendar is located in this Catalog in the section entitled 2025-2026 Academic Calendars.

Academic Load

A graduate student must be registered for six credit hours in a semester or session to be considered a full-time student. A graduate student must be registered for three credit hours in a semester or session to be considered a part time student. The usual course load for a full-time graduate student each semester is nine credit hours. The usual course load for a graduate summer session is six credit hours.

Auditing

Students may audit a class if they do not want to receive academic credit for the course. Regular registration procedures are followed. The deadline to request to audit a course is the last day of the drop/add period for the term in which the course is offered. Students who audit a course may not repeat the same course later for credit unless they receive permission to do so from the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost.

Class Attendance

Students are expected to be present at all of their regularly scheduled classes and laboratory appointments. When protracted absence has been caused by illness, students may be given the privilege of making up lost work by arrangement with the instructor. The burden of making up missed work rests with the student. All instructors have an attendance policy that will be announced at the beginning of each term, included in the class syllabus, and filed with the Dean of the Faculty. Penalties for not adhering to stated attendance policies will also be included in the class syllabus and announced at the beginning of each term. Any student who violates the attendance regulations set forth by the instructor may be dismissed from the class, provided that a warning of the intended action has been sent to the student. The student will receive a grade of WN or FN, depending on the date of the dismissal from the class. For more information, see the sections titled Course Withdrawal and Unofficial Withdrawal.

All instructors are required to report to the Registrar any students who never attend any class sessions during the first two weeks of a regular semester, or equivalent time frames for shorter terms. These students are then notified by the Registrar that they have been reported as non-attenders. Students must initiate a withdrawal if they do not intend to complete the course. Students who are not reported to the Registrar as non-attenders are assumed to be attending classes.

Students who request modifications to attendance policies set forth by individual instructors as an accommodation for a documented disability must do so by following procedures required by the Office of Academic Accessibility.

Course Changes

Students should not make any adjustments to their course schedules without discussing the changes with their advisor as well as the Student Accounts and Financial Aid Offices. Students who adjust their schedules without consulting their advisor do so at their own risk. Courses that are dropped during the regular drop/add period are not reflected on the academic transcript. Tuition charges and financial aid will be reassessed after the drop/add period based on the student's enrollment status at that time.

Course Withdrawal

A student may withdraw from a regular course until the end of the eleventh week of a fall or spring semester without academic penalty (a grade of W is assigned). Other deadlines exist for short session courses. After the specified deadline, a grade of WF will be assigned for a course from which a student withdraws. A WF is calculated into the grade point average as an F.

Although they are not required to do so, instructors may choose to withdraw students from courses for non-attendance. Students who are withdrawn from a course by the specified withdrawal deadline for a course will receive a WN (withdrawal for non-attendance). Students who are withdrawn after the specified deadline will receive a grade of FN (failure for non-attendance). An FN is calculated into the grade point average as an F. All withdrawal grades are listed on the student's transcript. For more information, see the section of this Catalog entitled Unofficial Withdrawal.

Tuition charges are not necessarily reduced by course withdrawals, but financial aid may be affected. All questions about tuition and/or financial aid should be directed to the Student Account Office and/or the Financial Aid Office before a student withdraws from a course.

Reported charges will be prorated within 30 days of the course withdrawal for any students who receive benefits through the VA or Vocational Rehabilitation. The VA will not pay benefits to students who withdraw from a course, or who are withdrawn from a course by the instructor.

Final Examinations

Final examination periods are scheduled at the end of the fall and spring semesters and at the conclusion of each summer session.

Final examination schedules are posted on the Registrar's page of the Greensboro College website for every term. Students are expected to take the final exam for each course as scheduled. If pressing issues necessitate a change, students may request to take a final exam at a different time; however, instructors are not obligated to accommodate the request. Students making a request to change the time of a final examination must complete the Petition for Exception to Academic Policy form. Recommendations and signatures of the student's advisor and the instructor are required before the Petition is submitted to the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost for action. All requests should be submitted to the Registrar's Office at least two weeks prior to the beginning of the final examination period. Instructors may not hold a final exam for an entire class at a different time than listed on the final exam schedule issued by the Registrar unless every student in the class agrees to the change. Students who need accommodations to complete an exam due to accessibility issues should follow procedures as set forth by the Office of Academic Accessibility prior to the exam's being given.

Prerequisites and Corequisites

A prerequisite is a course or requirement that must be satisfied before taking another course. A corequisite is a course or requirement that must be satisfied in the same term with another course. Prerequisites and corequisites are listed in individual course descriptions in the section of this Catalog entitled Course Descriptions. Students who enroll in a course without completing the appropriate requisites or obtaining proper faculty approvals are subject to withdrawal from the course.

Registration

Students select their course schedules in consultation with faculty advisors and must follow all registration procedures to receive credit. Registration for each semester or summer term extends through the end of the drop/add period. Students' initial registration may not occur after the end of the specified drop/add period without an approved Petition for Exception to Academic Policy.

All students must be officially admitted or readmitted to Greensboro College before they are eligible to register. Students who are not registered for any coursework by the end of the drop/add period will not be registered unless a Petition for Exception to Academic Policy has been approved. Because of financial and legal liability issues, Greensboro College does not permit attendance in classes for which students are not registered; therefore, students may not attend, or participate in, a class for which they are not officially registered once the drop/add period is over.

Registration for a semester, summer term, or any other session is a binding contract with the student. Once registered, students must officially withdraw from any class they cannot take, or from the College if they are unable to attend at all, by following proper withdrawal procedures (see Dismissal and Withdrawal Policies and Procedures).

Failure to complete required withdrawal procedures results in financial and academic consequences.

Restrictions on Online Course and Program Enrollments for International Students

International students who hold an F-1 visa and who have physical residence in the United States are allowed to enroll in no more than one completely online course per semester or summer session. This regulation has been established by the United States Department of State and Office of Homeland Security. International students residing outside of the United States are not restricted by the Department of State or Office of Homeland Security to the number of online courses in which they may enroll per term.

Grading System

The grades offered by Greensboro College are as follows.

A	Outstanding or Excellent
B	Above Average
C+
C	Average
C-
F	Failing
AU	Audit
CO	Carry Over
FN	Failure for Non Attendance
I	Incomplete
NC	No Credit
NR	Not Reported
P	Pass
W	Withdraw
WF	Withdraw Failing
WN	Withdrawal for Non Attendance

Audit (AU)

The AU grade is given for courses that the student has chosen to audit. The audit option must be selected, or removed, by submitting the appropriate form to the Registrar’s Office by the last day of the drop/add period each term. The AU grade does not affect the grade point average, nor does it grant any credit hours earned toward graduation. See the section of this Catalog entitled Auditing.

Carry Over (CO)

The CO grade is reserved for use in courses that may not always be completed in a single semester. Included in this category are Piano Proficiency courses and independent study or research courses. Students who receive a CO grade are given the next subsequent full semester (excluding summer terms) to complete course requirements, at which time a final letter grade will be assigned. If the requirements are not completed by the end of the next semester, the student will receive a grade of F. Students working toward completion of a course for which they received a CO grade are not considered “enrolled” at the College unless they are actively enrolled in classes for the current term.

Failure for Non Attendance (FN)

The FN grade indicates that a student has failed a course due to excessive absences or non-attendance. The FN grade is also used when an instructor withdraws a student from a course due to excessive absences before a term ends, and the withdrawal occurs after the deadline to withdraw from a course in that term without academic penalty.

Incomplete (I)

Instructors may submit a grade of Incomplete if students are unable to complete the requirements of a course due to an extreme circumstance or if they have received appropriate permission to extend coursework. Students must complete all coursework by the end of the sixth week of the next semester, regardless of whether the student is enrolled. Unresolved Incomplete grades are converted to an F at the end of the sixth week. Full responsibility for completing the course rests with the student. Students working toward completion of a course for which they received an Incomplete grade should not register for that course again in the current term.

No Credit (NC)

The NC grade may be used only for BKE 6900, ELE 6900, ENG 6900, REP 6900, or SPE 6900 when the student needs an additional semester to complete the work for the course. It is not a withdrawal grade. The NC grade is reserved for use when the student will register for the course again in a subsequent term and will earn a final grade in that second term. The NC grade is given when the student does not complete or fails to meet the expectations of a course that uses the NC grading scale. The NC grade does not affect the grade point average, nor does it grant any credit hours earned toward graduation.

Not Reported (NR)

The NR grade is given in the rare case when there is a delay in the submission of the final grade by the instructor. The NR grade does not affect the grade point average, nor does it grant any credit hours earned toward graduation. The NR grade appears on the academic transcript until the course is graded.

Pass (P)

ENG 6900, Teacher as Researcher and Practitioner: Final Project is the only graduate course that is graded on a Pass/Fail basis. Grades of P in Pass/Fail courses do not affect the grade point average, but do earn credit hours.

Withdraw (W)

The W grade indicates that a student officially withdrew from a course prior to the deadline to withdraw without academic penalty. The W does not affect the student’s grade point average.

Withdraw Failing (WF)

The WF grade indicates that a student officially withdrew from a course, or was withdrawn by an instructor for reasons other than attendance, after the deadline to withdraw without academic penalty. The WF counts in the student’s grade point average the same as an F.

Withdrawal for Non Attendance (WN)

The WN grade indicates that a student was withdrawn from a course by an instructor due to excessive absences, and the withdrawal occurred before the deadline for withdrawing from the course without academic penalty. The WN does not affect the student’s grade point average.

Repeated Courses

Students may repeat courses in order to improve their mastery of content in those courses, as well as their cumulative grade point average. Courses must be repeated at Greensboro College to improve their grade point average. The highest grade for a repeated course is used in cumulative grade point averages. Although the lower grade appears on the academic transcript, it is not calculated numerically into the grade point average. Repeated courses may not be taken Pass/Fail, unless the course is offered only on a Pass/Fail basis. The VA does not pay for repeated courses.

Special Topics Courses

Special topics courses are offered in a variety of disciplines and can be identified by the course title. If the course has a different topic of focus, special topics courses may be repeated for additional credit. Refer to the course description for details on the number of times a course may be repeated for credit. If a student wishes to repeat a special topics course for a grade replacement, the student must file a Petition for Exception to Academic Policy form, which is available by contacting the Registrar’s Office.

Grade Point Average

Students’ cumulative grade point average must be at least 3.0 in order to earn a degree.

Accepted transfer work from other institutions counts toward the number of credit hours required for a degree, but does not affect the cumulative grade point average.

Grades of NC, P, W, and WN do not affect the grade point average, although the credit hours earned do count toward the total needed for graduation. Grades of FN and WF are calculated and affect the grade point average like a regular F.

Grade points are awarded for grades in the following manner, per credit hour:

A	4.0
A-	3.7
B+	3.3
B	3.0
B-	2.7
C+	2.3
C	2.0

The formula for calculating a term grade point average is: the total number of grade points earned in courses attempted that term divided by the total number of credit hours attempted for the term.

The formula for calculating a cumulative grade point average is: the total number of grade points earned in courses attempted at Greensboro College divided by the total number of credit hours attempted at Greensboro College.

Students may access their term and cumulative grade point averages online through their Pride page.

The formula for calculating a major grade point average is: the total number of grade points earned in all courses counting toward the major divided by all credit hours attempted in the major, excluding those courses that are designated as “required related” courses. Students must have a minimum grade point average of 3.0 in their major, and a minimum cumulative grade point average of 3.0 to earn a degree.

All grade point averages used for official Greensboro College transcripts, determinations of honors, and any other academic records are determined by the administrative software system in order to preserve consistency. Grade point averages are not rounded up or down; they are recorded exactly as the calculations are determined automatically.

Academic Records

Release of Student Information

The academic record of each Greensboro College student is confidential information that is available only to those persons who have received written consent from the student. For additional information, consult the section of this Catalog entitled Release of Educational Records.

Transcripts that are received from other colleges are the property of Greensboro College and are for the College's use only. They will not be copied or released to anyone, including the student.

Transcripts

Students may obtain or have copies of their official transcript sent to anyone, including other colleges, businesses or organizations, by completing the appropriate form in the Registrar's Office, by submitting a written request or by completing a request online. Written requests must include the student's name, any former name(s), Greensboro College ID number or social security number, the recipient's name and complete address where the transcript should be mailed, and the student's signature. All official transcripts are $10.00 each when they are requested directly from the College. Transcripts can also be requested online through the National Student Clearinghouse (NSC) at www.studentclearinghouse.org. Students who request transcripts through the NSC will be charged the $10.00 transcript fee plus the NSC handling fee, which is subject to change without prior notification to the student or the College.

Transcripts will not be released in person to a third party unless the student provides written authorization to the Registrar's Office that specifically identifies the person to whom the transcript is to be given.

Transcripts that are received from high schools and other colleges are the property of Greensboro College and are for the College's use only. They will not be copied or released to anyone, including the student.

Grade Reports

Grade reports are available to students at the close of each term through their Pride Page. Records of progress for all students are maintained by the institution. Students may print grade reports for anyone they wish to have access to their grades.

Transfer Policy

Greensboro College welcomes transfer students and will award transfer credit based on policies outlined in this section.

Graduate students may transfer up to nine credit hours of graduate credit from a regionally accredited college or university for a graduate degree program. Students pursuing any of the Graduate Certificates in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages may transfer in up to three hours of graduate credit (contingent on approval by the Greensboro College Faculty).

Students are required to provide official academic transcripts from every institution attended prior to Greensboro College from which a degree was earned. Additionally, students must provide official transcripts from institutions from which transfer credit may be awarded.

Transfer Credit from Regionally Accredited Institutions

Credit is awarded on an individual basis for courses that students complete at regionally accredited institutions of higher education. The official evaluation of transfer credit is processed in the Registrar's Office.

In some cases, a further review of a student's transcript may be necessary to determine the best application of a student's credit. Examples include, but are not limited to, cases where students intend to teach or when course work does not have a specific equivalent to courses taught at Greensboro College. Such reviews typically occur after the fall or spring drop/add period.

Credit is awarded under the following conditions:

- an official transcript from any institution attended previously has been delivered to the Greensboro College Registrar.
- courses must be comparable in content and discipline to those taught at Greensboro College.
- courses must be taught by faculty with appropriate credentials.
- a maximum of nine graduate credit hours may be transferred from a regionally accredited college or university (eight credit hours for students pursuing a M.A. in Religion, Theology, and Culture; three credit hours for students pursuing a Graduate Certificate in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages). Students cannot receive credit for a course more than once. If they take the same course at two different institutions, they will receive credit for it from the institution where it was first taken. Transfer credit will not be awarded for courses that were taken at other institutions if the same courses are taken at Greensboro College.

- courses must be graduate level courses.
- grades in courses must be B or higher.

While Greensboro College does not place a time limit to award credit, coursework that was completed 10 or more years ago may need to be re-taken or updated to be applicable to general education or major requirements. Such determinations are made by Greensboro College faculty in consultation with the Registrar if it is determined that the content is outdated or not compliant with current certification or program requirements. In such cases, the credit hours awarded for the prior coursework become general elective credit.

Students who attend another institution will have credit awarded when an official transcript is received by the Greensboro College Registrar. Students who intend to enroll elsewhere during the summer are strongly encouraged to complete a Prior Approval Form to ensure that the course will transfer to Greensboro College.

Transfer Credit from Non-Regionally Accredited Institutions

To award credit from a non-regionally accredited institution, Greensboro College must be able to determine that the coursework was comparable in content and level of instruction to courses offered at Greensboro College and was taught by faculty with the appropriate credentials. Students who wish to receive credit from non-regionally accredited institutions are responsible for providing the Greensboro College Registrar with a copy of the course syllabus from the year that the course was taken as well as an Academic Catalog from the institution they attended for the year(s) they attended. For example, students who attended a non-regionally accredited institution in 2010 must provide a copy of that institution's 2010 Academic Catalog rather than a copy of the current year's Academic Catalog.

Once all of the required documentation has been received, the Registrar will review it to determine whether credit can be awarded in consultation with faculty and department chairs as needed based on policies established by the Curriculum and Instruction Committee. Students who seek credit for courses from non-regionally accredited institutions are entitled to request a review of decisions made about their transfer credit by the Registrar or the faculty. Such requests would be considered by the Academic Deans Council.

Transfer Credit from Foreign Institutions

To receive credit for courses taken at institutions outside of the U.S., students must provide an official academic transcript with an official English translation and an evaluation from a NACES approved evaluation service. In the extremely rare case that students are unable to obtain an official transcript from their country, the College will accept a certified copy of the transcript that is accompanied by an official English translation and an evaluation from a NACES approved evaluation service. Transcripts from international institutions that are already in English must still be accompanied by an official evaluation from a NACES approved evaluation service. A complete listing of NACES approved evaluation services can be found online at: www.NACES.org.

Prior Approval for Courses to Be Taken at Other Institutions

Greensboro College students who wish to attend a different institution during the summer, or who wish to participate in a Study Abroad program and have transfer credit awarded by Greensboro College, must receive approval prior to enrolling elsewhere. Students should complete the Prior Approval Form in consultation with their faculty advisors and/or the Coordinator of the Study Abroad Program. The Prior Approval Form is available in the Registrar's Office. Students who enroll elsewhere without obtaining Prior Approval first do so at their own risk and cannot be guaranteed that credit will be awarded.

As with any other form of transfer credit, students must enroll in courses that are comparable in content to courses taught at Greensboro College and make a grade of B or above to receive credit. Although the credit hours are added to a student's record when transfer credit is awarded, the grade point average is not affected.

Students may not replace a Greensboro College course grade by repeating that course at another institution. Credit is awarded only when an official academic transcript is received by the Registrar's Office.

Second Graduate Degree Requirements

A person who holds a graduate degree from another institution may earn a second graduate degree from Greensboro College if the following conditions are met:

1. the first-earned graduate degree is from a regionally accredited college or university; otherwise, the credits to be transferred in and applied to the second degree must be validated by established Greensboro College policies and procedures;
2. a maximum of 9 graduate credit hours earned from the first graduate degree may be transferred in and applied to the second graduate degree in accordance with Greensboro College's transfer policy;
3. a minimum of 21 graduate credit hours is taken at Greensboro College; and
4. the student fulfills all requirements for a graduate degree at Greensboro College.

A person who holds a graduate degree from Greensboro College may earn a second graduate degree from the College if the following conditions are met:

1. a minimum of 9 new graduate credit hours that were not applicable to the student's first degree must be taken at Greensboro College;
2. a maximum of 9 graduate credit hours earned from other institutions may be transferred in to apply to the second graduate degree, in accordance with Greensboro College's transfer policy; and

- the student fulfills all requirements for a graduate degree at Greensboro College.

Academic Progress

Academic Standing

All candidates who are enrolled in the graduate program and who have attempted at least six credit hours at Greensboro College must attain a minimum 3.0 cumulative grade point average in order to be in good academic standing. Any of the following situations will result in suspension from Greensboro College:

- Failure to maintain a 3.0 cumulative grade point average, unless the grade point average is below 3.0 due to a first attempt of ENG 6900. The intent of the graduate program is that ENG 6900 may be repeated one time. If, after a second attempt of ENG 6900, the cumulative grade point average remains below 3.0, suspension will result.
- A grade of F, unless the F is earned in a first attempt of ENG 6900. The intent of the graduate program is that ENG 6900 may be repeated one time. A second grade of F in ENG 6900 would result in suspension.
- Two or more grades of C, whether in one semester or over multiple semesters. For students pursuing a Graduate Certificate in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages, one grade of C will result in suspension.

A candidate may be reinstated only one time as a result of appealing an academic suspension. A second suspension results in automatic dismissal.

The academic progress requirements stated above apply to students in the Master of Arts and the Master of Education programs. Students enrolled in one of the College's other post-baccalaureate programs and non-degree seeking students must satisfy undergraduate academic progress requirements; see the section titled Academic Progress in the Greensboro College Undergraduate Academic Catalog for details.

Appeal Process for Academic Suspension

All students who are academically suspended from the College have a right of appeal. To appeal, a student must complete the Academic Appeal Form that is provided at the time of the suspension within the time period designated in the letter of notification. If no appeal is received, the College will assume that the student does not intend to appeal. Appeals will not be accepted on or after the first day of classes for the term in which the student is seeking enrollment. In addition to submitting the Academic Appeal Form, students are allowed to attend the Scholastic Standing Committee meeting if they wish, except in the case of readmission applicants who have been suspended from Greensboro College for a semester or more. If the student wishes to attend in person, this should be stated on the Academic Appeal Form. A written appeal (the Academic Appeal Form) without a personal appearance is as valid as an appeal with a personal appearance.

Dismissal and Withdrawal Policies and Procedures

The Standards Review Committee is an ad-hoc committee consisting of the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, Associate Vice President for Academic Administration, the President's Chief of Staff and Vice President for Compliance, and Dean of Students. The Committee may be convened by any member to address a student concern that may arise that is not specifically covered by College policy. The Standards Review Committee will review all cases of dismissals and administrative withdrawals.

Dismissal

The College reserves the right at any time to dismiss any student who fails to maintain the required standard of scholarship, who willfully violates the rules and regulations of the College, or whose general conduct convinces the administration that he/she has not become adapted to this institution. Such dismissal shall be made by the Standards Review Committee. A student who is dismissed under the provisions of this paragraph may not apply for readmission to Greensboro College. Please see the Pride Guide: Student Handbook for more details about student conduct and due process. A student who is dismissed under the provisions of this paragraph may appeal the dismissal to the President of the College within two business days of the decision to dismiss the student.

Withdrawal

Administrative Withdrawal

The College reserves the right at any time to administratively withdraw any student who, in the judgment of the College, fails to maintain the required standard of scholarship or who willfully violates the rules and regulations of the College or whose general conduct convinces the administration that the student has not become adapted to this institution. The Standards Review Committee shall make such an administrative withdrawal. A student who is administratively withdrawn under the provisions of this paragraph may apply for readmission to Greensboro College; any conditions under which a readmission will be considered will be outlined in writing to the student. Please see the Pride Guide: Student Handbook for more details about student conduct and due process. A student who is administratively withdrawn under the provisions of this paragraph may appeal the dismissal to the President of the College within two business days of the decision to administratively withdraw the student.

Voluntary Withdrawal or Transfer

Once a student has been formally registered and desires to completely withdraw from all courses, it is necessary to do so in writing. Students should obtain a withdrawal form from the Dean of Students and complete an exit interview.

Students who withdraw on their own initiative will be governed by the following academic policies:

- Withdrawal from courses through the end of that term's drop/add period will result in the deletion of the courses from the academic record.
- Students withdrawing from courses beginning the first day after that term's drop/add period through the term's published deadline to withdraw without academic penalty will receive grades of W. A grade of W does not compute in the grade point average.
- Students withdrawing after the term's published deadline to withdraw without academic penalty will receive grades of WF. A grade of WF computes in the grade point average as a grade of F.
- Students withdrawing completely from Greensboro College on their own initiative should consult the section of this Catalog entitled Refund Information for the refund policy.

If a student withdraws completely from the college and then decides to re-enroll, they must re-apply for admission through the Admissions Office. Re-enrollment may be granted pending good status with Student Accounts, Financial Aid, Student Development, and the Registrar.

Medical Withdrawal

To be considered for a medical withdrawal, a student must obtain documentation from a health care provider to accompany a letter to the Dean of Students. Students seeking a partial or full medical withdrawal need the approval of the Dean of Students. Students approved to withdraw for medical reasons through the term's midpoint will receive a grade of W with no academic penalty. Students withdrawing medically after the published deadline for course withdrawal without academic penalty will receive grades of either W or WF, depending upon their progress in their courses. This information will be obtained directly from the instructors by the Registrar's Office. If approved, refunds will be determined according to the refund policy for medical withdrawals. Consult the section of this Catalog entitled Refund Information. Readmission may be contingent upon assessment and documentation from an outside medical professional, as well as good status with Student Accounts, Financial Aid, Student Development, and the Registrar.

Unofficial Withdrawal

The following grades shall be assigned to students whose lack of class attendance affects their performance.

- If a student is withdrawn from a class by the professor due to excessive absences prior to the deadline to withdraw from a class without penalty, then that student shall receive a final grade of WN (Withdrawal for non-attendance) by the professor. The WN grade does not affect the academic grade point average.
- If a student is withdrawn from a class by the professor due to excessive absences after the deadline to withdraw from a class without penalty, then that student shall receive a final grade of FN (Failure for non-attendance) by the professor. The FN grade calculates in the academic grade point average as an F.
- If a student remains enrolled in a class for an entire term and has failed the class because his or her lack of attendance in that class has had a direct and substantial negative effect on the final grade, then that student shall receive a final grade of FN (Failure for non-attendance). The FN grade calculates in the academic grade point average as an F.

If, at the end of a semester, a student has received all grades of FN and/or WN, then it shall be determined that the student has unofficially withdrawn from the College and his/her name shall be given to the Senior Director of Student Financial Services for federal financial aid eligibility determination and to the Dean of Students for withdrawal processing.

Leave of Absence

The Leave of Absence is an available option for students in graduate programs, licensure plus programs, or the Piedmont Alternative Licensure (PAL) program who need to stop their enrollment at the College but intend to continue their academic program at Greensboro College within the next semester or academic year. A Leave of Absence allows a student to break enrollment for one or two consecutive terms (specifically a fall semester, a spring semester, and/or a summer.) It is not necessary to request a Leave of Absence if the only term a student will miss is a summer term. Students approved for a Leave of Absence can re-enroll without applying for readmission if they return in the specified time frame. A Leave of Absence will not defer payments on any student loans that are due during the absence.

In order to be approved for Leave of Absence, students must request a Leave of Absence before the first day of class of the semester they are requesting a Leave of Absence and be eligible to return to Greensboro College and be in good academic, financial, and judicial standing with the college. Additionally, students may not take college courses at other institutions while on a Leave of Absence; if they do, then they must apply for readmission to Greensboro College when they wish to return. Students should see the Dean of Students to request a Leave of Absence. The Dean of Students grants final approval for all requests for Leave of Absence. Students may request a Leave of Absence at any point in the semester for the next semester; however, the request will not be acted upon until after final grades for the semester are received. The Leave of Absence period begins at the start of the next semester. The Dean of Students will notify students requesting Leave of Absence in writing whether they have been approved for Leave of Absence status.

Military Leave of Absence

Greensboro College recognizes that some students may be active members or reservists in a branch of the armed forces. If such students provide documentation to the Registrar that their service obligation will interrupt a term in which they are actively enrolled and the Registrar confirms that satisfactory academic progress was being made prior to the interruption of their studies, appropriate accommodations will be arranged so that the students can complete the course(s) they were taking at the time of the interruption. Accommodations could include completing course(s) online or the assignment of a grade extension, CO (Carry Over), to allow the student extra time to complete course(s).

Additionally, an appropriate accommodation may be a Military Leave of Absence until such time as they can return to the College in a subsequent new term. Punitive grades will not be issued when a Military Leave of Absence is granted. The appropriate accommodation(s) will be decided by the individual course instructors, based on what is reasonable for a given course.

Removal from Residence Halls, Suspension or Dismissal for Disciplinary Reasons

Students who are suspended or dismissed from Greensboro College for disciplinary reasons through the term's published deadline for course withdrawal without academic penalty will receive a grade of W with no academic penalty. Students who are suspended or dismissed from Greensboro College for disciplinary reasons after the published deadline for course withdrawal without academic penalty will receive grades of W or WF, depending upon their progress in their courses. This information will be obtained directly from the instructors by the Registrar's Office. A student removed from the residence halls, suspended or dismissed from Greensboro College for disciplinary reasons will not be entitled to a refund of any tuition, fees, or room and board charges.

Petition for Exception to Academic Policy

Students who, after consultation with their advisor, believe that an exception to an academic policy or procedure is warranted, should petition for such exception. Petition for Exception to Academic Policy forms and instructions for filing a petition are located in the Registrar's Office. A completed petition form will be reviewed by the appropriate person or committee for a decision on whether the exception will be made.

Approval is not guaranteed.

Academic Honor Society

Kappa Delta Pi

Kappa Delta Pi, an international honor society in education, was organized to recognize excellence in education. Those elected to membership exhibit the ideals of scholarship, high personal and professional standards, and promise in teaching. It encourages improvement, distinction in achievement and contributions to education. Selection as a member of Kappa Delta Pi is based on high academic achievement, a commitment to education as a career and a professional attitude that assures steady growth in the profession.

The Psi Mu Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi was installed on October 19, 1997. Students who have been accepted into the Educator Preparation Program, have a minimum grade point average of 3.50 (undergraduate students) or 3.75 (graduate students) in all courses taken at Greensboro College and exhibit leadership skills are eligible for membership.

Participation in Commencement Ceremonies

Students must submit a Graduation Application to the Registrar's Office prior to their intended graduation. Deadlines for submission are stated on the Graduation Application form, which may be found in the Registrar's Office.

Commencement ceremonies are held in May each year after the spring semester. The ceremonies signify the culmination of the academic year and are held in a traditional and dignified way to honor the graduates. Students are invited to participate in the ceremonies following completion of all degree requirements. Students who finish requirements in August or December participate in the May Commencement ceremonies following degree completion.

Official graduation dates are listed on students' transcripts and diplomas. The official graduation dates are listed below.

May graduation: the date of the Commencement Ceremony

August graduation: August 15

December graduation: December 31

In order to graduate from Greensboro College and to be eligible to participate in Commencement, students must complete all degree requirements (see Degree Requirements). In addition to the academic requirements, all financial obligations to the College must be met.

Diplomas

Each student’s name will be printed on his/her diploma as the student requests on the Graduation Application. In the absence of a Graduation Application, the student’s full name will be printed on the diploma as it is recorded in the College data system by the Registrar’s Office. The degree being awarded is printed on the diploma.

Students will receive their diplomas after verification of successful completion of all academic degree requirements and financial obligations to the College. Students who graduate in May will receive their diplomas during the Commencement ceremony. Students who do not participate in the Commencement ceremony, and those who graduate in August or December, will be mailed their diplomas and should indicate the addresses for mailing on their Graduation Applications. Students who need to have diplomas mailed to addresses outside the United States are responsible for mailing costs. Students may pick up their diplomas in person as well by contacting the Registrar’s Office.

Apostille

Greensboro College offers assistance with securing documents for Apostille procedures exclusively to current or former students enrolled in the College’s M.A. in TESOL program. Contact the Registrar’s Office for requirements and fee information.

ACADEMIC PROGRAM

Academic Organization

The academic program is organized into schools: School of the Arts, School of Business, School of Humanities, School of Sciences and Mathematics, and School of Social Sciences and Education. The five schools are supported by the James Addison Jones Library. Each school consists of program areas of related academic departments. Members of the faculty belong to the school or library in which they perform their primary teaching duties.

The Master of Arts (M.A.) in Religion, Theology, and Culture, the Master of Arts (M.A.) in Bilingual Education, and the Master of Arts (M.A.) in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages programs are housed in the School of Humanities. The Master of Education (M.Ed.) degrees in Birth to Kindergarten Education, Elementary Education, and Special Education are housed in the School of Social Sciences and Education. The Master of Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.) in English as a Second Language program is shared by these two Schools. The full time faculty and disciplines included in each School are listed below in the section titled Academic Schools.

The ongoing responsibility for the content of the academic program resides with the faculty and the Curriculum and Instruction Committee, which reports to the faculty. The Curriculum and Instruction Committee, chaired by the Vice President for Academic Affairs and Provost, consists of five school representatives and other resource personnel.

Matters of curriculum listed in this Catalog, such as the general education requirements and the individual course offerings, are subject to approval by the faculty and the administration of the College.

CURRICULUM

Master of Arts (M.A.) in Religion, Theology, and Culture

Department of Religion; School of Humanities

Program Description

The Master of Arts in Religion, Theology, and Culture is an academic graduate degree that enables students to pursue advanced work in the disciplines of theology, Christian ethics, and biblical studies, focusing on how these disciplines are inextricably related to life in its variety of contemporary forms. The Master of Arts in Religion, Theology, and Culture at Greensboro College develops a unique perspective that brings together theology and cultural attentiveness, literacy, and engagement, combining these foci with Christian ethics and biblical studies in a way that is academically rigorous and practically transformative for church, society, and the academy.

The Master of Arts in Religion, Theology, and Culture is designed to provide specialized academic training that equips students who desire focused area(s) of learning at the graduate level, who are seeking to advance within higher academia beyond the M.A. into further graduate study, and/or those who are in preparation for one of the many forms of Christian ministry, witness, or service.

This graduate program is delivered in a completely online format.

Degree Requirements

The minimum requirement for the M.A. degree in Religion, Theology, and Culture is to successfully complete thirty-two credit hours and either pass a written comprehensive examination or complete a thesis research paper. The student will choose to either take the exam or write a thesis paper during their course work. Both the exam and the thesis are completed in the last semester by taking REP 6900 and REP 6910. A maximum of 8.0 credit hours of transfer credit may be applied to the elective requirements for degree completion.

Students who complete this degree will be able to articulate a theological understanding of faith as lived, beyond traditional attempts to reduce faith to propositions and mere abstract belief. The aim is to provide time, space, and opportunity to cultivate broader thinking about the ways in which faith takes shape within the daily fabric of life. For this reason, the goal of our theological, ethical, and biblical study is to draw attention to the significance and relevance of the meaning of faith within the world.

Master of Arts (M.A.) in Bilingual Education

Department of English, Communication and Media Studies; School of Humanities

Program Description

This 30 credit-hour program is designed to prepare graduates for teaching in bilingual education contexts’ however, it does not lead to state licensure. The M.A. program allows candidates flexibility regarding the number of courses they wish to take each semester; however, the program must be completed within three years of the start date. With careful planning, a student can complete the program in as few as 13 months. The program is offered in an online, asynchronous format in close collaboration with faculty and peers. Toward the end of their studies, candidates will write and present a final project based on dual language acquisition theory and/or pedagogical theory related to the field.

Prospective students are invited to engage in selected courses to fulfill requirements for licensure in their state or to pursue the graduate certificate in bilingual education in lieu of completing the entire master’s program.

The objectives of the MA in Bilingual Educations include:

1. Students apply target principles to papers, projects, and other assignments that demonstrate understanding of human language and how it is acquired. (Knowledge)
2. Students design lessons, outcomes, and assessments that reflect an understanding of the unique needs of multilingual learners. (Practice)
3. Students exhibit professionalism in the field of multilingual education by utilizing current research, policy, and practice to conduct their own scholarly inquiries and practical contributions. (Professionalism)

Master of Arts (M.A.) in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages

Program Description

This 30 credit-hour program consists of 15 credit hours of language and culture; 9 credit hours of pedagogy; and 6 credit hours of research. The M.A. program is designed to allow candidates flexibility with regard to the number of courses they wish to take each semester; however, the program must be completed within three years of the start date. With careful planning, a student can complete the program in as few as 13 months. Options are available to study entirely online or to attend a residential summer program. Toward the end of their studies, candidates will write and present a final project based on second language acquisition theory and/or pedagogical theory related to the field.

This curriculum has been developed in accord with international TESOL, Carolina TESOL, and NCDPI guidelines. NOTE: The M.A. itself does not carry licensure.

The goals and objectives of the Master of Arts program are as follows:

Greensboro College affords graduate students the best educational opportunities to obtain the content knowledge, the skills, and the dispositions needed to become reflective practitioners who use research-based teaching methods, value differences, and engage in life-long learning. Stimulated by the spirit of critical inquiry, graduate students engage in the learning process as an ongoing preparation for life in the larger community. In order to meet these goals, students will:

- study theory and principles of various aspects of language and learning in a multicultural context and from a multicultural perspective;
- demonstrate advanced mastery of the intellectual skills of analysis, synthesis, and evaluation;
- apply theoretical, philosophical, and research bases to improve student learning and/or workplace effectiveness;
- demonstrate skills, strategies, and practices related to language, culture, pedagogy, curriculum, and assessment;
- develop a final project that relates theory to practice;
- reflect upon their work as professionals.

Degree Requirements

The Master of Arts degree in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages requires the successful completion of 30 credit hours of coursework that includes the following:

Course number	Course title	Credit hours
Choose one of these courses:		3
ENG 5300	English Grammar
ENG 5340	Academic Writing for Multilingual Learners
ENG 5310	General Linguistics	3
ENG 5430	Reading and Writing for the Multilingual Learner	3

ENG 6500	The Pedagogy of Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages	3
ENG 6510	Practicum in the Pedagogy of Teaching Multilingual Learners	3
ENG 6900	Teacher as Researcher and Practitioner: Final Project	3
EDU or ENG 5000+ courses	Electives	9

Total credit hours = 30 for M.A. degree

Elective should be chosen based on research interest, academic background, and workplace/teaching experience.

Additional degree requirements include:

- an acceptable final project, approved by a supervising TESOL faculty member.
- the presentation of the student’s final project in a college-wide forum or approved academic forum.
- a 3.0 cumulative grade point average.
- no more than one grade of C.
- no grade of F, unless it is in the first attempt of ENG 6900.

Upon graduation, the title of the student’s thesis/project completed for ENG 6900 will be printed on the student’s transcript. Students should be aware that space for this title is limited to 100 characters.

Specialized Graduate Certificates in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages

Program Description

Greensboro College offers seven unique Graduate Certificates, designed to allow for specialization within the broader field of Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages. These 12-credit-hour graduate programs lead to specialized Certificates in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages, not to a degree, and are designed to prepare candidates to teach English to speakers of other languages in a variety of professional contexts. The 12-credit-hour Certificate also enables candidates who already have a Master of Arts degree in another field such as English to seek employment at post-secondary institutions. The required coursework covers language teaching methodology, the nature of language, the structure of English, second language acquisition, intercultural communication, and, in some cases, a practicum experience. The 12 graduate credit hours required for the certificates may be applied toward the M.A. in TESOL at Greensboro College. Transfer credit in a Certificate is limited to one approved 3-credit-hour graduate course at a regionally accredited institute of higher education and approved by the program director. Students can earn more than one Certificate, but they may not count a course toward more than one Certificate. Course substitutions can only be made at the discretion of the program director.

Note: The Certificate is not equivalent to the M.A. or M.A.T. degree nor does the Certificate carry teaching licensure.

The deadline for M.A. or M.A.T. degree-seeking students to declare a certificate as part of their program is the end of the drop/add period for the last term of the certificate. Students who wish to continue enrollment immediately after completing a M.A. or M.A.T. to pursue a certificate may do so by applying to the TESOL Certificate program with the Admissions Office.

Master of Education (M.Ed.)

Department of Education; School of Social Sciences and Education

Program Description

The Master of Education (M.Ed.) programs in Birth to Kindergarten Education, Elementary Education, Special Education (General Curriculum), and Special Education (Adapted Curriculum) are designed to serve individuals who already hold valid teaching licenses and wish to pursue a master’s degree.

The M.Ed. programs represent a balance of courses distributed between professional studies and specialty studies. In educator preparation programs, to which all candidates must be admitted, professional studies courses are the general core of shared courses taken by all candidates; specialty studies courses are the major area courses taken by candidates seeking licensure in a specific area.

Master of Birth to Kindergarten Education

Professional Studies Courses	12 credit hours
Specialty Studies Courses	18 credit hours
Total Program:	30 credit hours

Master of Elementary Education

Professional Studies Courses	15 credit hours
Specialty Studies Courses	15 credit hours
Total Program:	30 credit hours

Master of Special Education (General or Adapted Curriculum)

Professional Studies Courses	12 credit hours
Specialty Studies Courses	18 credit hours
Total Program:	30 credit hours

All graduate students are required to complete their Master’s Degree programs within three years of their start date. All M.Ed. candidates are strongly encouraged to begin their programs either in the summer or fall in order to complete within two years and maintain continuous enrollment.

Admission to Educator Preparation

All M.Ed. candidates must be admitted to the Educator Preparation Program by the second semester of enrollment or by the completion of nine credit hours of coursework. Applications for admission to the Educator Preparation Program are available from the Office of Educator Preparation, Proctor Hall East, Room 108. Admission to Greensboro College does not constitute admission to the Educator Preparation Program.

Educator Preparation Program Admission requirements include the following:

1. A minimum 3.00 cumulative grade point average including prior coursework;
2. A favorable recommendation from a graduate faculty member;
3. Completion of the Application for Educator Preparation and the accompanying Legal Status and Policy Statements;
4. Membership in an approved professional organization. Consult your licensure area or the Office of Educator Preparation for additional organizations.

Upon successful completion of these requirements, applications will be considered by the Educator Preparation Program submitted to the Educator Preparation Committee. This Committee, in the exercise of its professional judgment, determines admission to the program.

The goals and objectives of the Graduate Programs in Education are as follows:

Greensboro College affords graduate candidates with the best educational opportunities to obtain the knowledge and dispositions needed to become reflective practitioners who value differences, utilize best practices, and engage in life-long learning. Stimulated by the spirit of critical inquiry, graduate candidates engage in the learning process as an ongoing preparation for life in the larger community. In order to do this, candidates will:

- demonstrate advanced mastery of the intellectual skills of analysis, synthesis, and evaluation;
- apply theoretical, philosophical, and research bases to improve student learning;
- develop a philosophical and theoretical foundation that guides the application of best educational practices;
- study a common core of knowledge in the areas of educational foundations, educational psychology, research methods, and ethics;
- acquire a deeper understanding of the developmental needs of students in order to employ teaching practices attuned to individual, cultural, ethnic, economic, and learning differences;

- develop and vary teaching strategies in order to create learning environments that respect, welcome, and meet the learning needs and interests of all students;
- develop an action-research project that relates theory to practice in order to improve teachers' educational practices and effectiveness;
- develop, apply, and reflect upon content/pedagogical knowledge and instructional skills that connect subject/discipline knowledge to the interests and needs of all learners;
- develop the skills in problem solving and collaboration useful for working with colleagues as well as with students and their parents;
- develop and apply skills to assume leadership roles in their classrooms, schools, communities, and professional organizations;
- reflect upon their work as professionals.

Graduate Certificates in Education

Greensboro College offers two graduate certificates in education: the Graduate Certificate in Literacy in Education, and the Graduate Certificate in Social Justice through Education. These certificates are designed to support candidates’ teaching experiences, enhance pedagogical techniques, provide candidates professional development opportunities, and align with Department of Public Instruction and State Board of Education guidelines.

All courses taken toward a graduate certificate in education will count toward the M.Ed. or M.A. in TESOL programs.

The deadline for M.Ed. degree-seeking students to declare a certificate as part of their program is the end of the drop/add period for the last term of the certificate.

Note: The Certificate is not equivalent to the M.Ed. degree nor does the Certificate carry teaching licensure.

Licensure Plus Master of Arts in Teaching (M.A.T.) in English as a Second Language

Licensure Plus M.A.T. Program Description

The Licensure Plus M.A.T. Program is designed for individuals who have earned a bachelor’s degree, who do not have a teaching license, and who are seeking Standard Professional License 1 in Teaching English as a Second Language (ESL). The first step of Licensure Plus M.A.T. leads to the Standard Professional 1 (SP1) license. The second step of Licensure Plus M.A.T. leads to the Master of Arts in Teaching ESL and master’s licensure.

The goals and objectives of the Licensure Plus M.A.T. in English as a Second Language (ESL) are as follows:

Mirroring the goals and objectives of Greensboro College’s graduate programs in education, the Licensure Plus M.A.T. in ESL program affords graduate candidates with the best educational opportunities to obtain the knowledge and dispositions needed to become reflective practitioners who value differences, utilize best practices, and engage in life-long learning. Stimulated by the spirit of critical inquiry, graduate candidates engage in the learning process as an ongoing preparation for life in the larger community. In order to do this, candidates will:

- demonstrate advanced mastery of the intellectual skills of analysis, synthesis, and evaluation;
- apply theoretical, philosophical, and research bases to improve student learning;
- develop a philosophical and theoretical foundation that guides the application of appropriate educational practices;
- study a common core of knowledge in the areas of educational foundations, educational psychology, research methods, and ethics;
- acquire a deeper understanding of the developmental needs of students in order to employ teaching practices attuned to individual, cultural, ethnic, economic, and learning differences;
- develop and vary teaching strategies in order to create learning environments that respect, welcome, and meet the learning needs and interests of all students;
- develop a capstone project that relates theory to practice in order to improve teachers’ educational practices and effectiveness;
- develop, apply, and reflect upon content/pedagogical knowledge and instructional skills that connect subject/discipline knowledge to the interests and needs of all learners;

- develop the skills in problem solving and collaboration useful for working with colleagues as well as with students and their parents;
- develop and apply skills to assume leadership roles in their classrooms, schools, communities, and professional organizations;
- reflect upon their work as professionals.

Admission to Educator Preparation Program During Step One

Step One Licensure Plus candidates should apply for formal admission into the Educator Preparation Program during their first semester while enrolled in EDU 5210 and should be admitted prior to completing nine credit hours of coursework or by the end of the second semester of enrollment. Admission requirements include the following:

1. A minimum 3.00 cumulative grade point average including prior coursework;
2. Favorable recommendations from the candidate's major advisor, a faculty member, and the Dean of Students;
3. Completion of the Application for Educator Preparation and the accompanying Legal Status and Policy Statements, Educator Preparation Program Policy Statement and Code of Professional Responsibilities and Conduct Agreement;
4. Membership in an approved professional organization. Consult your licensure area or the Office of Educator Preparation for organizations.
5. Enrollment in or prior completion of EDU 5210 Introduction to the Profession.

Student Teaching/Clinical Practicum Program - Step One

Candidates must apply to Student Teach or complete the Clinical Practicum. The Student Teaching/Clinical Practicum application is to be submitted to the Educator Preparation Office the first month of the semester before the student teaching semester. The Clinical practicum is only offered during the spring semester. Precise deadlines for student teaching materials will be posted each semester. Basic requirements and material include:

1. Completed Student Teaching/Clinical Practicum Application, including signatures of recommendation from the major advisor.
2. Completion of all required courses and field experiences with a minimum grade of C or better.
3. A graduation audit completed by the Registrar.
4. A favorable recommendation from the candidate's major advisor.

The attainment of an initial license involves obtaining minimum, or higher, scores on the required specialty area examinations with cut scores established by the State Board of Education; submission of approved evidences (student teachers), and successful completion of the Educator Preparation Program.

Master's Degree Program in ESL Application Requirements - Step Two

Candidates who successfully complete Step One of the program and intend to enter into Step Two, must then apply for admission into Step Two, the Licensure Plus M.A.T. Program and be readmitted into the Educator Preparation Program for master's licensure. Candidates must have completed all requirements of the Licensure Program with a 3.0 cumulative grade point average and must submit the following to the Greensboro College Admissions Office:

- Copy of valid, active ESL initial license
- Application for Licensure Program Completers (including a recommendation from a Licensure Program faculty member)

Once admitted, candidates may earn a Master of Arts in Teaching degree in ESL by completing an additional 15 credit hours of coursework and the additional degree requirements:

- an acceptable final project, approved by the supervising ESL faculty member.
- the presentation of the student's final project in a college-wide forum or approved academic/professional forum.
- a 3.0 cumulative grade point average.
- no more than one grade of C.
- no grade of F.

Licensure Plus Master of Education (M.Ed.) Program

Licensure Plus M.Ed. Program Description

The Licensure Plus M.Ed. Program is designed for individuals who have earned a bachelor's degree, who do not have a teaching license, and who are seeking an initial license in either elementary or special education. The Licensure Plus Programs are two-step programs. The first step of Licensure Plus M.Ed. leads to the initial license. The second step of Licensure Plus M.Ed. leads to the M.Ed. and master's licensure.

Candidates participating in the Licensure Plus Programs must be admitted to the Educator Preparation Program two times--once in Step One after the first semester of enrollment at Greensboro College. Candidates must apply to the Educator Preparation Program again in Step Two no later than the completion of the first nine credit hours of credit or by the second semester of enrollment.

Licensure Plus M.Ed., Step One

The first or "licensure" step of the "Licensure Plus" M.Ed. program represents a balance of graduate and undergraduate courses distributed among professional, specialty, and clinical studies. In educator preparation programs, professional studies courses are the general core of shared courses taken by all candidates; specialty studies courses are the major area courses taken by candidates seeking licensure in a specific content area; and clinical studies involve field experiences in the public schools.

Step One in Elementary Education

Candidates may pursue initial licensure, Step One, in Elementary Education by completing coursework at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Upon completion of initial licensure in Elementary Education (Step One), candidates may then apply to continue in the master's portion of the program (Step Two). With an additional 21 credit hours of graduate level work, they may complete the M.Ed. in Elementary Education and be eligible for master's licensure recommendation.

Licensure Program in Elementary Education - Step One

Professional Studies Courses	14 credit hours
Specialty Studies Courses	28 credit hours
Student Teaching Seminar	2 credit hours
One of the following:
Student Teaching (for candidates NOT employed as a teacher)	4 credit hours
Clinical Practicum (for candidates employed as a teacher)	2 credit hours

Step One in Special Education General and Adapted Curriculum

Candidates may pursue initial licensure, Step One, in Special Education General Curriculum or Adapted Curriculum by completing coursework at both the undergraduate and graduate levels. Upon completion of initial licensure for the General Curriculum or Adapted Curriculum licensure in special education (Step One), candidates may then apply to continue in master's portion, of the program (Step Two). With an additional 21 credit hours of graduate level work, they may complete the M.Ed. in either General Curriculum or Adapted Curriculum and be eligible for master's licensure recommendation.

Licensure Program in Special Education General and Adapted Curriculum - Step One

Professional Studies Courses	8 credit hours
Specialty Studies Courses	32 credit hours
Student Teaching Seminar	2 credit hours
One of the following:
Student Teaching (for candidates NOT employed as a teacher)	4 credit hours
Clinical Practicum (for candidates employed as a teacher)	2 credit hours

Transitioning from Step One to Step Two Candidates moving from Step One to Step Two must complete the M.Ed. Transition Application for Step Two. These applications are available in the Greensboro College Admissions Office. Candidates admitted into the Step Two program must also be readmitted to the Educator Preparation Program prior to completing nine credit hours of course work in the M.Ed. Program.

Educator Preparation Subcommittees

The Course Equivalency Subcommittee operates to ensure greater consistency and comparability among programs. Issues related to documentation of work experience, fieldwork, and individual student courses of study are directed to this subcommittee which reports to the Educator Preparation Committee. The Educational Standards and Dispositions Subcommittee counsels candidates regarding career options, admission requirements, progress, and standards. It is a forum for recommending policies and guidelines to the Educator Preparation Committee. The Professional Studies Subcommittee functions to review curriculum proposals, course changes, and licensure programs. It provides professional studies faculty with opportunities to discuss academic, curricular and instructional concerns. The Finance and Assessment Subcommittee serves to oversee the Curriculum and Materials Center, CMC. This subcommittee organizes CMC requests, distributes the CMC budget, documents all CMC expenses, and coordinates and oversees the Assessment System.

The “Licensure,” or Step One, program in Special Education (Adapted Curriculum) requires the successful completion of a minimum of 37 credit hours of coursework, including two field components. Candidates who are not employed as teachers are also required to complete Student Teaching for Post-Baccalaureate Candidates and Student Teaching Seminar. Candidates who are employed as teachers will complete a Clinical Practicum and Student Teaching Seminar. Course requirements are listed below.

Course number	Course title	Credit hours
EDU 2770	Literacy Foundations	3
EDU 3300	Positive Behavior Support	3
EDU 3355	Educational Assessment	4
EDU 5000	Reflective Practices	3
EDU 5210	Introduction to the Profession	1
EDU 5330	Nature of the Learner	3
ELE 5735	Multiple Pathways to Learning	3
SPE 2800	Educational Considerations for Individuals with Low Incidence Disabilities	3
SPE 2801	Field Component for Educational Considerations for Individuals with Low Incidence Disabilities	1
SPE 3750	Planning for Transition Through Collaboration	4
SPE 3770	Emergent Literacy Methods and Assessment	3
SPE 3771	Field Component for Emergent Literacy Methods and Assessment	1
SPE 3791	Special Education Math Field Component	1
SPE 5280	Exceptionality, Diversity and Difference	3

SPE 5280	Exceptionality, Diversity and Difference	3
----------	--	---

Candidates who are NOT employed as lead teachers complete:

EDU 4930	Student Teaching Seminar	2
EDU 4970	Student Teaching for Post-Baccalaureate Candidates	4
EDU 5211	Field Component for Introduction to the Profession	1

Candidates who are employed as lead teachers complete:

EDU 4935	Clinical Practicum Seminar	2
EDU 4980	Clinical Practicum	2

Total credit hours = 40 for lead teachers, 43 for those not employed as lead teachers

Other requirements include:

- passing scores on the PRAXIS II exam during student teaching or clinical practicum in order to receive a grade of C or better
- grades of C or better in all courses
- fulfillment of all requirements for an initial license.

Step Two in Special Education (Adapted Curriculum): Master of Education

Candidates who successfully complete Step One of the program and intend to enter into Step Two, must then apply for admission into Step Two, the Licensure Plus M.Ed. Program and be readmitted into the Educator Preparation Program. Candidates must have completed all requirements of the Licensure Program with a 3.0 cumulative grade point average and must submit the following to the Greensboro College Admissions Office:

- Copy of valid, active initial license
- Application for Licensure Program Completers (including a recommendation from a Licensure Program faculty member)

Once admitted, candidates may earn a Master of Education degree in Special Education (Adapted Curriculum) by completing an additional 21 credit hours of coursework including the following:

Course number	Course title	Credit hours
EDU 6110	Introduction to Educational Research	3
EDU 6310	School, Community and Family Collaboration	3
EDU 6580	Current Issues in Education	3
SPE 6400	Strategies for Teaching Students with Autism	3
SPE 6420	Assistive Technology to Support Literacy and Communication	3
SPE 6440	Supporting Students with Serious Medical Issues and Their Families	3
SPE 6900	Teacher as Researcher: Research Implementation in Special Education	3

All Candidates, Admission to Educator Preparation Program during Step One

Step One Licensure Plus candidates should apply for formal admission into the Educator Preparation Program during their first semester while enrolled in EDU 5210 and should be admitted prior to completing nine credit hours of coursework or by the end of the second semester of enrollment. Admission requirements include the following:

1. A minimum 3.00 cumulative grade point average including prior coursework;
2. Favorable recommendations from the candidate's major advisor, a faculty member, and the Dean of Students;
3. Completion of the Application for Educator Preparation and the accompanying Legal Status and Policy Statements; Code of Professional Responsibility and Conduct Agreement and Educator Preparation Program Policy Statement;
4. Membership in an approved professional organization such as SNCAE or SCEC. Consult your licensure area or the Office of Educator Preparation for additional organizations.
5. Enrollment in or prior completion of EDU 5210 Introduction to the Profession.

Upon successful completion of these requirements, applications will be considered by the Educator Preparation Program and submitted to the Educator Preparation Committee. This Committee, in the exercise of its professional judgment, determines admission to the program.

All Candidates, Student Teaching/Clinical Practicum Program - Step One

Candidates must apply to Student Teach or complete the Clinical Practicum. The Student Teaching/Clinical Practicum application is to be submitted to the Educator Preparation Office the first month of the semester before the student teaching semester. The Clinical practicum is only offered during the spring semester. Precise deadlines for student teaching materials will be posted each semester. Basic requirements and material include:

1. Completed Student Teaching/Clinical Practicum Application, including signatures of recommendation from the major advisor.
2. Completion of all required courses and field experiences with a minimum grade of C or better.
3. A graduation audit completed by the Registrar.
4. A favorable recommendation from the candidate's major advisor and faculty member.

Responsibility for student teaching/clinical practicum placements is a collaborative endeavor between the local schools and the Educator Preparation Office. Candidates completing a program through student teaching may not be employed (part-time or full-time) during their student teaching semester. Hardship cases will be reviewed on an individual basis by the Standards Subcommittee of the Educator Preparation Program and approved by the Educator Preparation Committee. Candidates must contact the Director of Educator Preparation and submit a petition requesting an exception to initiate this process.

The attainment of an initial license involves obtaining minimum, or higher, scores on the required specialty area examinations with cut scores established by the State Board of Education, which are to be completed prior to the completion of student teaching or the clinical practicum to receive a grade of C or better; submission of approved artifacts, and successful completion of the Educator Preparation Program.

COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

The abbreviations in parentheses after the names of disciplines (ENG for English, etc.) are those used by the College for permanent records and class schedules.

Graduate courses at Greensboro College are numbered 5000 and above, and descriptions of these courses may be found in this Graduate Catalog. Undergraduate courses are numbered at the 4000 level and below. Description of these courses may be found in the Greensboro College Undergraduate Academic Catalog.

The number in parentheses after each course title indicates the number of credit hours of credit for the course.

Prerequisites and corequisites requisites courses are designated under course titles, and are defined as follows:

- Prerequisites must be satisfied before taking a particular course.
- Corequisite requisites must be satisfied during the same term as taking a particular course.

If no designation appears after a course description, then the course has no prerequisite or corequisite.

Under each course title, there is information regarding the frequency with which the course will be offered. This information is included for planning purposes only. Although the College will make a reasonable effort to offer a course in the semester(s) indicated, the College reserves the right to change the frequency of any course offering without prior notification.

BIRTH TO KINDERGARTEN EDUCATION (BKE)

School of Social Sciences and Education

BKE 5730 Advanced Studies in Curriculum Theory for Early Childhood Settings (3)

Offered: Every summer

This course provides an in-depth review and analysis of historical curriculum planning approaches for young children and the application of that knowledge in the design of a unique and individual curriculum philosophy. Study includes the review of curriculum theories such as Montessori, Bank Street, Waldorf, Reggio-Emilia, High Scope, Tools of the Mind and the Project Approach. All students will complete an independent analysis of each approach for the use of environmental and curricular design, selection of learning materials, teaching and learning strategies, and philosophical differences. As a final project for this course students will design and articulate their own curriculum planning philosophy based upon the implication of their study.

BKE 6320 Analysis and Design of Early Childhood Environments: Assessment, Teaching and Learning Strategies (3)

Offered: Fall semesters, 2026 and 2028

This course is designed to provide students with advanced skills and knowledge in application of a research base to design, adapt and evaluate curriculum and environments suitable for all young children of various developmental levels and abilities in inclusive birth to kindergarten settings. Study includes collaboration with families to support the analysis and implementation of an authentic assessment approach to determine developmental abilities, interests and differences in young children's progress; and determining program effectiveness.

BKE 6350 Leadership and Advocacy in Early Childhood Education (3)

Offered: Fall semesters, 2025 and 2027

This course is designed to provide students with the knowledge and skills to act professionally in leadership roles in the field of early childhood education. Students will review the political, economic and social influence on the field of early childhood education. Additionally, characteristics of leadership and professionalism will be explored. Further study will include the investigation of professional strategies utilized in specific roles within the field such as: mentor, evaluator, administrator and advocate. Students will be expected to examine standards of professionalism in each of these roles, complete a self-assessment and develop and draft a personal professional development plan.

BKE 6900 Teacher as Researcher and Practitioner: Birth Through Kindergarten (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

Prerequisite: EDU 6110 and admission to the Educator Preparation Program

This course is designed to provide information and guidance to candidates as they design and implement a project-based product in P-12 schools. Students will be given the opportunity to design and develop a product (e.g., teaching aids such as curriculum design and materials; interactive website; in-service training workshop; professional conference presentation, etc.) that will support the best practices in birth-through-kindergarten education. Furthermore, students will continue to deepen their understanding of educational inquiry and research methodologies, strengthen their ability to read critically, to synthesize and conceptualize research issues, and conduct a clear disciplined inquiry into a topic. Students will exit the course having completed their final culminating professional project.

EDUCATION (EDU)

School of Social Sciences and Education

EDU 5000 Reflective Practices (3)

Offered: Summer 2027 and 2029

This course focuses upon schools, education, teaching and 21st century professional practices and standards. Candidates explore the philosophical, sociological, and historical foundations of the profession in order to understand various educational theories that link research to practice. Emphasis is placed on reflection and articulation of a vision of educational practice based reading, research and reflection. Candidates will identify a research question, articulate a hypothesis, identify and critique research articles, summarize findings and present conclusions.

EDU 5210 Introduction to the Profession (1)

Corequisite: EDU 5211

Offered: Every fall semester

This course will be offered in an online format and will provide the vehicle for all students in the step-one programs, especially the TESOL students, to easily complete the application process, be introduced to edTPA, and other licensure requirements in addition to professional standards and assessments.

EDU 5211 Field Component for Introduction to the Profession (1)

Corequisite: EDU 5210

Offered: Every fall semester

This field component is required for all candidates, who are not employed as lead teachers, enrolled in EDU 5210. This field component involves observation and reflection on classroom practice. Students should be responsible for transportation to field placements

EDU 5310 Responsive Planning, Instruction and Assessment (3)

Offered: Every fall semester

This course provides the foundation to enable teacher candidates to utilize effective planning, instruction and assessment while integrating 21st century technology in their classrooms. They will learn to analyze student performance data to improve effectiveness of planning and instruction, and explore the use of technology in formative assessment. Candidates will be prepared to design diversity responsive lesson plans that encourage students to learn content, think critically, solve problems, discern reliability, use information, communicate, innovate, and collaborate with others.

EDU 5330 Nature of the Learner (3)

Offered: Summer 2026 and 2028

This course surveys human development from conception through adolescence with an emphasis on cognitive and social development during the preschool, middle childhood, and adolescent years. Current research on a variety of special topics related to growth and development such as socio-economic status, gender, and ethnicity will be explored. The developing child will be understood as an active participant in a world of biological, familial, social, and cultural influences that help shape his or her individual life path.

EDU 5500 Special Topics (3)

Prerequisite: Permission of instructor

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course presents special topics in advanced educational studies. May be repeated for credit under different topics.

EDU 5900 Directed Study (1-3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

Directed Studies must be proposed before the beginning of the semester and be approved by the Department Chair, Dean of Faculty, and course instructor. A specific area of study not available in any other course is developed in-depth. These course will be specified on the transcript according to the content of the course.

EDU 6110 Introduction to Educational Research (3)

Offered: Spring semesters, 2026 and 2028

This course is an introduction to educational inquiry and research methodologies. The course topics include: sampling procedures, measurements, quantitative and qualitative research designs, and data collections and analysis. The course is intended to increase the students' ability to read critically, to synthesize the products of educational inquiry, to conceptualize research issues, and to conduct a clear, disciplined inquiry into a topic. Candidates will consider issues of reliability, validity, and ethics, and will be able to engage in professional discussion of educational research.

EDU 6310 School, Community and Family Collaboration (3)

Offered: Fall semesters, 2025 and 2027

Theory and practice in joining families, communities, and schools in promoting children's learning, development and success in school. Strengths and needs of families in a diverse, multicultural society, teachers' roles in concert with other disciplines in supporting families and building partnerships, and connection with community resources.

EDU 6580 Current Issues in Education (3)

Offered: Summer 2027 and 2029

The intent of this course is to study current developments and issues of concern and debate in education and the international, national, state and local levels. These issues include current events, trends, opinions and issues related to curriculum development, delivery systems and leadership. The graduate candidate will carefully examine persistent problems of schools and explore possible solutions. The course considers the research on leading theorists and the application of their findings into effective practice. The needs of the child and the needs of society are a primary focus.

ELEMENTARY EDUCATION (ELE)

School of Social Sciences and Education

ELE 5730 Contemporary Elementary Curriculum and Strategies (3)

Offered: Spring semesters, 2027 and 2029

This course explores the scope and sequence of the elementary curriculum areas of science and social studies. Strategies studied include content integration, cooperative grouping and effective questioning strategies, management and motivation. Hands-on guided discovery is an essential ingredient.

ELE 5735 Multiple Pathways to Learning (3)

Offered: Spring semesters, 2026 and 2028

This course provides a study of the theory of Multiple Intelligences as posited by Howard Gardner. Students will conduct research into the history and the pedagogical role of the theory as well as design lessons that incorporate music, visual arts, movement/dance, creative dramatics, logic, personal interaction and personal reflection. The scope and integrative use of literature for children will also be explored.

ELE 6330 Multicultural Literature for Children (3)

Offered: Summers, 2027 and 2029

Reading, discussing and analyzing literature written from diverse ethnic, linguistic, and cultural perspectives will aid candidates in becoming knowledgeable about a wide range of outstanding multicultural literature from various cultural groups. Candidates will also explore means of teaching using multicultural literature to encourage diverse learners and learning.

ELE 6340 Cultural Aspects of Effective Teaching (3)

Offered: Fall semesters, 2026 and 2028

This course focuses on the role of culture in teaching, assessment and learning. Candidates will study different cultures, assess and reflect on their own perceptions and use this knowledge to enhance the teaching and learning process.

ELE 6500 Topical Seminar (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course is a detailed education analysis of a selected topic. A seminar approach is utilized which requires extensive reading, individual or group projects, and research papers.

ELE 6770 Differentiated Instruction (3)

Offered: Fall semesters, 2025 and 2027

A study of diagnostic procedures for identifying learning problems and planning remedial instruction appropriate for candidates in all subject areas. Special emphasis will be given to developing intervention strategies as prescribed by the Gateways initiative. Candidates will prepare two entries for the Teaching Portfolio based on student work samples.

ELE 6900 Teacher as Researcher and Practitioner: Elementary Education (3)

Prerequisite: EDU 6110 and admission to the Educator Preparation Program

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course is designed to provide information and guidance to candidates as they design and implement a project-based product in P-12 schools. Students will be given the opportunity to design and develop a product (e.g., teaching aids such as curriculum design and materials; interactive website; in-service training workshop; professional conference presentation, etc.) that will support the best practices in elementary education. Furthermore, students will continue to deepen their understanding of educational inquiry and research methodologies, strengthen their ability to read critically, to synthesize and conceptualize research issues, and conduct a clear disciplined inquiry into a topic. Students will exit the course having completed their final culminating professional project.

ENGLISH (ENG)

School of Humanities

ENG 5001 Advanced Field Component for TESOL (1)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This 50-hour advanced field experience allows for practical implementation of the knowledge, skills, and dispositions addressed in the TESOL Step 1 program. It is required for candidates for licensure in TESOL who are not currently employed as professional educators.

ENG 5300 English Grammar (3)

Offered: Every fall semester

This is a study of American English emphasizing grammar through the traditional, functional, and descriptive approaches. It includes a study of syntax, semantics, dialectology linguistic geography, and usage. The course is designed to provide competency in teaching English grammar and usage.

ENG 5310 General Linguistics (3)

Offered: Every spring semester and every summer

This course covers the basic principles of language study (phonology, morphology, syntax, semantics, lexicon), including a history of the English language. Among the topics covered are word origins; linguistic developments; the study of dialect, structure, and meaning; first and subsequent language acquisition and learning; and the social uses of language in oral and written forms. This course will examine the influence of power, race, class, and gender on the development of languages through and across time.

ENG 5330 Language and Culture (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course examines the interaction of language and society and explores the following: cross-cultural communication; national language policies; multicultural verbal and non-verbal behavior, customs, and traditions; prestige language; and gender, ethnic, political and class issues in sociolinguistics.

ENG 5340 Academic Writing for Multilingual Learners (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

In this course students explore the development of academic writing for multilingual learners (ML) as it relates to practice and research. Topics covered will include identifying rhetorical problems and solutions as they relate to the L1 culture, engaging with sources, defining plagiarism, making good arguments, and assembling reasons and evidence. In addition, the pedagogical choices for supporting MLs' writing development will be examined as they pertain to the use of multiple drafts, feedback, peer editing, and self-editing practices.

ENG 5350 Authentic Assessment (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course provides a foundation in the understanding of authentic assessment and its application with multilingual learners of all ages. Specifically, this course explores the challenges that both teachers and English learners face within the school context in relation to understanding student ability and the demonstration of prior knowledge. This course examines issues of power, race, class, privilege, and other factors that may impede the educational success of diverse students. In addition, this course addresses the need to develop assessment practices that infuse critical multicultural education into the curriculum and authentic opportunities to express and demonstrate acquired knowledge in the classroom.

ENG 5360 Adult Learners in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

In this course students examine the diverse circumstances and methodologies for teaching English to adult learners. Among the topics covered are intensive English programs, adult basic skills language development, English for specific purposes for learners living in the U.S. and in their home countries (i.e., healthcare, business), and English for international students studying in the U.S.

ENG 5370 Metacognition as a Tool for Language Learning (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

We often teach students what to learn but not how to learn. Language learning is a life-long endeavor. It is necessary for students to have the tools required to control their own learning as they navigate through ever changing languages in our rapidly globalizing world. This course introduces students to the science of learning and how the most contemporary research in educational psychology is relevant to language learning. This course dispels old myths of learning and explores new research-proven strategies for effective teaching.

ENG 5380 L2 Classroom Discourse (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

In this course, we will study the dynamics of L2 classroom discourse. The course is built on the premise that social interaction is at the heart of teaching and learning, and we will focus on the critical role the teacher plays in managing classroom interaction. We will read a variety of research articles to explore how, through interaction, teachers convey their curriculum and how students display their understandings of it. We will also examine how teachers and students create and maintain relationships and how they express their personal and professional identities in everyday classroom activities.

ENG 5390 Cultural Identity Through Storytelling (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course explores storytelling as a means to identify, express, and reflect upon cultural identity. Emphasis is placed on using current research in this specialized field to understand the history of storytelling through multiple modalities, including oral narration, song, chants, graphic novels, news, podcasts, movies, gossip, and more. Active student engagement and participation will optimize learning outcomes, as the stories we share will serve as a common point of departure as we develop the tools necessary to understand the stories of our current and future students.

ENG 5400 English for Specific Purposes (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

English for Specific Purposes (ESP) addresses the language needs of a group of learners, who need English for specific settings or professions. The ESP approach focuses on creating opportunities for learners to naturally acquire English by working with language in a context that they comprehend, related to their specific settings, and sounds interesting. In this course, students will develop the skill to assess the language needs specific to a particular group of learners, create proper curricula, and develop teaching materials directed to those needs. Students in this class will gain theoretical and pedagogical knowledge that can expand their TESOL background to anticipate and meet the needs of ESP learners.

ENG 5420 Current Issues in Teaching Multilingual Learners (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

Explore the legal, cultural, and social issues impacting teaching multilingual learners in the United States. Trends in policy and practice will be addressed, as well as differences that affect teaching and learning.

ENG 5430 Reading and Writing for the Multilingual Learner (3)

Offered: Every spring semester and every summer

The course examines the teaching of contemporary written discourse in English. Focus will be on reading and composition theory; curriculum; purpose, audience, structure and development of texts; modes of discourse; L1 and subsequent language acquisition and learning; assessment and evaluation; direct instruction and interventions; and issues particular to multilingual learning students and families from various language typologies and at various levels of competency in written and spoken English. Special populations, exceptionalities, and technology will also be addressed.

ENG 5490 Practice in Pragmatics: Understanding Communication in Context (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

“How do we start conversations? What are the rules of turn-taking, and how can we participate in meaningful dialogue with others?” These are the everyday questions that frame the course as we explore how to apply principles of interpersonal communication and pragmatics in education. While the focus is on understanding teaching oral communication, students will also learn what the research tells us about interpreting nonverbal communication, with reference to behavioral norms in the US. For each topic of the course, students will focus on using this information to create lessons in pragmatics for multilingual learners of English.

ENG 5500 Special Topics (3)

Prerequisite: Permission of the Director of the Program

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course presents special topics in advanced educational studies. May be repeated for a total of six credit hours under different topics.

ENG 5900 Directed Studies (1-3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

Directed Studies must be proposed before the beginning of the semester and be approved by the Director of the Program, Department Chair, Dean of Faculty, and course instructor. A specific area of study not available in any other course is developed in depth. These courses will be specified on the transcript according to the content of the course.

ENG 6100 Issues of Power, Access, and Equity (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

Participants will explore the intersectionality of power, access, equity and language through major works in the field of cultural and sociolinguistics. There is a specific focus on the lived experiences of culturally and linguistically diverse individuals in the US and other English-dominant countries. The course will examine how the marginalization of this population manifests itself in contemporary society, particularly in education.

ENG 6150 Introduction to Educational Inquiry (3)

Offered: Every semester and every summer

This course introduces students to educational inquiry and research methodologies at the graduate level. The course is intended to increase the students' ability to read critically, to synthesize the products of educational inquiry, to conceptualize research issues, and to conduct a clear, disciplined inquiry into a topic. M.A. candidates should take this course within the first nine credit hours of graduate study.

ENG 6310 Descriptive Linguistics (3)

Corequisite: ENG 5310

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course provides a survey of contemporary models used in linguistic analysis on all levels, practical applications of these models to a wide diversity of natural languages, and evaluation of the models with respect to their universal and cross-cultural application.

ENG 6330 Language Acquisition (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course investigates how the human brain develops in relation to first and second language acquisition. Theory is introduced as a foundation for understanding how these two distinct processes diverge and collide in the lives of multilingual learners. Issues such as age, motivation, acculturation, and cross linguistic influences interact to support or impede L1 and L2 acquisition. Special emphasis is placed on the interplay between linguistic development and cultural identity.

ENG 6500 The Pedagogy of Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (3)

Offered: Every fall semester

This course explores the pedagogy surrounding language acquisition and language learning including production and reception as it relates to speaking, writing, reading and listening. Specific topics include: lesson planning; evaluation and assessment; technology; reflective practices; legal issues; family literacy; social service, human resource, and state and federal programs; integration of content; bilingual education; and other critical issues in the field.

ENG 6501 Field Component for Pedagogy of Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (1)

Corequisite: ENG 6500

Offered: Every fall semester

This field experience allows for practical implementation of the knowledge, skills, and dispositions addressed in ENG 6500. Required for candidates for licensure in TESOL.

ENG 6505 Methods in Bilingual Education (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course explores methods and pedagogy specific to practitioners in bilingual teaching contexts. Based on principles of dual language acquisition, topics related to language production and reception in listening, speaking, reading, and writing are explored. Specific topics include lesson planning, crafting learning objectives, assessment, technology integration, content and language integration, reflective practices, and other issues relevant to the field.

ENG 6510 Practicum in the Pedagogy of Teaching Multilingual Learners (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

The practicum provides the opportunity for students to apply theoretical, philosophical, and research-based study in the field of multilingual learning and to demonstrate through a series of assignments the skills, strategies, and practices related to language, culture, pedagogy, curriculum, and assessment. It also provides students a further opportunity to reflect upon their work as professionals and prepare for the practical aspects of their professions.

ENG 6520 Advanced Practicum in Teaching in Global Contexts (3)

Corequisite: ENG 6510

Offered: Periodically based on student need

The advanced practicum is specifically designed to offer students an opportunity to teach abroad while advancing their knowledge of theories of second language acquisition and models of English as a foreign language in practice. In addition, students will have exposure to issues related to English as an international language. The course would emphasize practical experience in the EFL field.

ENG 6530 Online Pedagogy and Course Development (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course is designed to allow students an opportunity to explore and contribute to the ever-growing field of teaching and tutoring culturally and linguistically diverse students utilizing online platforms. The course reaches beyond the use of technology in the classroom and asks students to articulate the pedagogical underpinnings of successful online teaching. Students will use this research as the basis for creating lesson plans, including appropriate assessments and delivery instruction in the online environment.

ENG 6540 Technology-Assisted Language Learning (3)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

Technology is an integral part of teaching and learning in 21st century classrooms. However, too often, teachers rely on the use of technology as a means to occupy student time while instruction is delivered to students with varied educational and cultural backgrounds. This course encourages teachers to examine technological applications to unify instruction and to make classroom activities and content accessible to all students, regardless of their language proficiency levels and/or academic backgrounds. Equal attention will be given to using technology to facilitate teaching and to support active learning.

ENG 6900 Teacher as Researcher and Practitioner: Final Project (3)

Prerequisites: ENG 6510, ENG 6500 and successful completion of 21 credit hours of course work

Offered: Every semester and every summer

This course will offer students opportunity to design and develop a product (e.g., teaching aids such as curriculum design and materials; interactive website; in-service training workshop; professional conference presentation, etc.) which will help facilitate and promote English language teaching and learning for speakers of other languages worldwide. The product is founded on the theories and principles of second language acquisition, sociolinguistics, knowledge of English language, as well as best classroom practices. Furthermore, students will continue to deepen their understanding of educational inquiry and research methodologies, strengthen their ability to read critically, to synthesize and conceptualize research issues, and conduct a clear disciplined inquiry into a topic. Students will exit the course having completed their final culminating professional project. This is a Pass/Fail course.

RELIGION, ETHICS AND PHILOSOPHY (REP)

School of Humanities

REP 5000 The Torah and the Former Prophets (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course investigates the over-arching narrative content of the first five books of the Old Testament known as the Torah and as Pentateuch (Genesis, Exodus, Leviticus, Numbers, and Deuteronomy) and the subsequent histories known as the Former Prophets or the Deuteronomistic History (Joshua, Judges, 1-2 Samuel, 1-2 Kings). It also provides an overview of the main strategies for interpreting these books and the varied commitments behind each approach.

REP 5010 The Latter Prophets and the Writings (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

An investigation into Israel's prophetic and wisdom literature. Attention is given to the application of these biblical texts to current issues in society and your personal life with a focus on justice and mercy.

REP 5020 Jesus, the Gospels, and Acts (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course introduces the student to a critical study of the four New Testament Gospels and the Acts of the Apostles, including major interpretive approaches in current Gospel research; the distinctive literary and theological characteristics of the Gospel portraits; the historical and social setting of the Gospel writers; and the literary dimensions of Luke's story of the early church.

REP 5030 The Epistles (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

An examination of the Pauline and Catholic/General letters, with special attention to their social context within the Mediterranean world of the first century. The class focuses on a study of current socio-historical and sociological methodologies and an exploration of how these have been used to illuminate the authors' handling of various matters within the early churches, including social status, ethnic and gender relations, slavery, and religious ritual.

REP 5100 Christian Theology (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course will focus on the central themes of Christian theology: the nature of God, sin and Grace, christology, sacraments, church doctrine and community, and eschatology. Students will explore prominent Christian theologians and schools of thought, in this regard, and they will participate in the effort to make sense of the different constituent parts of Christian doctrine as a whole.

REP 5150 Introduction to Ethics (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course is an introduction to the philosophical study of morality. It will examine different ethical theories, including deontology, utility and virtue as alternatives approaches to the right and/or the good. Students will also examine contemporary moral problems in light of these theories, striving to grasp the strengths and weaknesses of each.

REP 5160 Introduction to Christian Ethics (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course explores the moral features of the Christian faith (i.e., moral commitment, character, virtue and praxis), demonstrating the ways in which Christian worship gives shape to the moral life of Christians. This course examines how moral questions have been resolved by the main thinkers in the Christian tradition.

REP 5200 Global History of Christianity (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

A survey of the history of Christianity with attention given to salient antecedents, figures and traditions (popular and minority sides), key developments in society and economics, descriptions of native cultures as more than objects of missions, and depictions of everyday life in various Christian communities. This course of study includes consideration of theological, ethical, cultural/social, and intellectual historiographies.

REP 5240 Introduction to Ministry (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course introduces students to the theological and practical dimensions of ministry. Students will draw on scripture, church history, their own theological context, and their own life experiences to lay a foundation for their goals for and approaches to ministry. The class will invite students to apply their theoretical knowledge to specific ministry settings.

REP 5260 Homiletics (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course serves as an introduction to Bible exposition with an emphasis on the teaching and preaching of Scripture within the Christian tradition. This course is designed to expose students to various homiletical theories, methods, and practices. This will be done by studying the writings of different Christian authors (pastors/theologians) and by listening to sermons preached by those who advocate a given perspective.

REP 5900 Religion and Culture (2)

Offered: Every Fall or Spring semester

This course will explore the fundamental idea that religions exist within cultural contexts, and that people who study religions are shaped by their social locations. Attention will be given to concepts including identity, ideology, intersectionality, and structural inequality, and social topics that are covered will include race and ethnicity, sex and gender, sexual orientation, class, disability, nationality, etc. Students will be introduced to a diverse range of academic tools, including philological, sociological, psychological, philosophical, feminist, and postcolonial methodologies. As a required course, this will allow students to incorporate recognition of and analysis of culture into their study of religion and theology throughout the program.

REP 6000 Hermeneutics: Text and Cultural Context (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

A study of the principles of interpreting the Bible including historical, philosophical, linguistic, theological, and biblical issues related to the discipline. Special attention is given to specific biblical issues such as the interpretation of prophecy, the New Testament use of the Old Testament, contextualization and the contemporary application of Scripture.

REP 6020 Women and Gender in Early Christianity (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course examines female figures in the New Testament and early Christianity more broadly, and it explores the dynamics of gender in the 1st century CE. The class will address the social construction of gender, intersectional understandings of women's experiences, how different biblical authors speak about women and gender, and ways of interpreting the Bible through the lens of women's concerns.

REP 6030 "Race" and Ethnicity in the Bible (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course examines ethnic discourse in the Bible and its relationship to the modern concept of race. The class will address ancient and modern conceptions of ethnicity, peoplehood, and race, the range of ethnic messages communicated in the Old Testament and New Testament, and the emergence of modes of interpretation based on minoritized racialization. Furthermore, students will have the opportunity to articulate how they construct their ethnic and racial identity and how their social location impacts their reading of the Bible.

REP 6050 Special Topics in Biblical Studies (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This shell is designed to hold a wide range of possible courses in biblical studies. Topics might include: wisdom literature; biblical apocalyptic traditions; an examination of biblical perspectives on faith, wealth and poverty; or other thematic approaches to the Scriptures. May be repeated for credit under different topics.

REP 6100 Contemporary Theology (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course will survey modern theological trajectories related to biblical, theological, pastoral, and socio-ethical themes about suffering, liberation, and hope through the lenses of liberation theology, feminist theology, theological-social ethics, atonement theory from South American, Latin American, and black theologies, and theology of disability. A study and critical assessment of selected schools of modern theological thought, such as neo-orthodoxy, process theology, feminist theology, liberation theology, and theology of hope, with reference to relevant theological trends and movements in the modern and postmodern eras.

REP 6120 Post-Barthian Theology (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

The course will investigate the impact of Karl Barth's theology in the contemporary era. It will introduce some theological movements after Karl Barth such as German hermeneutic theology, radical orthodoxy, and postliberal theology. The course will also examine how the theology of Karl Barth is utilized in the context today.

REP 6130 Theology of Religious Diversity (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

The course is a study of theology of religious diversity. This course will introduce many ways to understand different religions and religious diversity theologically. It will examine key thinkers who developed religious pluralism such as John Hick, Raimundo Panikkar, Paul Knitter, and many others, while also investigating some classical perspectives of understanding different religions in history.

REP 6140 Neo-Orthodox Theology: Tillich, Barth, and Niebuhr (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course will examine neo-orthodox theology that was popularized in the late nineteenth and twenty centuries. The course will study key figures such as Paul Tillich, Karl Barth, Reinhold Niebuhr, and others. The course will talk about the key themes around the tradition, including, theological anthropology, the confession church (the relationship between church and state), and world wars.

REP 6150 Special Topics in Theology and/or Ethics (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This shell is designed to hold a wide range of possible classes in theology and/or ethics. Potential topics could include courses focused on an influential theologian, like Karl Barth, or a particular theological or ethical theme or school of thought, like the atonement or African-American liberation theology. May be repeated for credit under different topics.

REP 6210 The Reformation (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course will examine the personalities, major events, theological ideas and political consequences of the Protestant Reformation. Students will examine the work of reformers such as Martin Luther and John Calvin, seeking to understand their inspiration and how they, in turn inspired others. In the process, students will learn about the importance of historical context on the formation and spread of ideas, but also how the ideas become formative of the historical context in which they arise.

REP 6250 Special Topics in Church History and/or Ministry (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This shell is designed to hold a wide range of introductory courses in church history and/or ministry. most important Christian theological responses through the ages. May be repeated for credit under different topics.

REP 6400 Introduction to Philosophy (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course will study major issues in and works of philosophy with special attention given to the work of significant philosophical figures and traditions. Topics in philosophy may include theories of reality, theories of knowledge, theories of value, and the practical implications of each. Students will read, analyze, and critique primary philosophical texts, and demonstrate an ability to reflect upon the application of the philosophical thought to various aspects of life.

REP 6450 Special Topics in Philosophy (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course concentrates on a topic of mutual interest between the instructor and the participants. Among the possible topics are Western Philosophy, Feminist Philosophy, Eastern Philosophy, and Philosophy of Religion. May be repeated for credit under different topics.

REP 6500 The Sociology of Religion (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

Religion is one of the most powerful sources of ideological cohesion, meaning generation, social disruption, and cultural change in human societies. Sociology provides a perspective and a set of analytical tools and theories for describing, understanding, and explaining the nature and influence of religion in multipole contexts across historical periods. This course examines religion within social contexts to understand the intricate relations of religion and culture, and will address (1) religion as a social institution, (2) the impacts of religion on communities, (3) religious identities, values, and practices, and (4) the role of religion in social control, social conflict, and social change. This course explores religious language, symbols, communities, and practices as social phenomena and the social processes at work in communal identity and ethnic conflict.

REP 6510 Postcolonial Thought in Religion (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course invites students to explore the relationship between colonialism and religion as expressed in scriptures, history, and theory. The class will address major figures in postcolonial theory (e.g., Fanon, Said, Spivak, Bhabha), global histories of colonization and decolonization, the religious dimensions of decolonial resistance, and the advent of postcolonial biblical interpretation and postcolonial theology.

REP 6520 Asian/Asian-American Thought in Religion (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course explores the religious, philosophical, social, and political landscapes of Asia (including East Asia, Southeast Asia, and South Asia) and the Asian diaspora. There will be a particular emphasis on Asian/Asian-American biblical interpretation and Asian/Asian-American theology, both historically and in the modern period. Consideration will be given to intersectional realities including gender, race, colonialism, class, and sexuality.

REP 6530 Race, Gender, and the Christian Imagination (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course examines theological and moral philosophical narratives of divine and human powers and, in particular, how these narratives underwrite, influence, and inform Christian spiritual practices and doctrines related to race and gender. This course will examine issues of slavery, geography, ethnic and gender relations, literacy/translation, citizenship, and body capital.

REP 6540 World Religions (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This is a comparative survey of major world religions, such as Buddhism, Confucianism, Taoism, Hinduism, Judaism, Islam, and Christianity. This course explores the history, worldviews, and major beliefs and practices of each religious tradition in order to promote interfaith dialogue and an appreciation for diversity.

REP 6550 Special Topics in Cultural Studies (2)

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course concentrates on a topic of mutual interest between the instructor and the participants. Among the possible topics are Queer Theory, Critical Theory, and Nonviolent Resistance in Religions. May be repeated for credit under different topics.

REP 6900 Bibliographical Research for Capstone (2)

SPECIAL EDUCATION (SPE)

School of Social Sciences and Education

SPE 5280 Exceptionality, Diversity and Difference (3)

Offered: Summer 2026 and 2028

This course is a study of the exceptionality, diversity and difference that exists in the P-12 classrooms. Strategies for developing appropriate learning environments, intervention strategies and teaching styles as related to difference will be explored. Socio-economic status, gender, and ethnicity will be explored as they relate to effective teaching. Learning styles and differences will be examined and instructional modifications and alternative delivery systems will be studied. This course will also address professional networking and collaboration in order to enhance the learning experiences of all students.

SPE 6320 Classroom Assessment, Teaching and Learning Strategies in Special Education (3)

Offered: Spring semesters, 2027 and 2029

This course is designed to develop effective assessment skill in teacher for gathering relevant education information needed to make appropriate and ethical instructional decisions and to provide on-going monitoring of successful learning in the classroom. Terminology, concepts, legal aspects, ethical implications, role of the family and community, and types of decisions made in the context of assessment are among topics covered in the course. Candidates will use a variety of assessment techniques, including formal and informal instruments to collect, analyze and apply data to be used in developing learning strategies, selecting instructional material and creating a productive learning environment.

SPE 6330 Evidence-Based Practices in Special Education (3)

Offered: Fall semesters, 2025 and 2027

This course addresses evidence-based practices for teaching students with disabilities. Candidates will gain knowledge of effective strategies for improving outcomes in targeted groups of diverse learners. The course will include and in-depth study of mild to moderate disabilities and their instructional needs. Additionally the course will include an understanding of evidence-based practices and how to choose the appropriate strategy for the individual needs of a learner.

SPE 6340 Research-based Literacy Methods (3)

Offered: Summer 2027 and 2029

This course will focus on research-based literacy methods for teaching students with high-incidence disabilities. Candidates will learn about effective teaching strategies and materials surrounding the big ideas of reading and written expression. Candidates will learn how to assess learner strengths and needs for instructional planning as well as use progress monitoring to track learner performance. Additionally candidates will be immersed in the research reporting current issues in literacy.

SPE 6400 Strategies for Teaching Students with Autism Spectrum Disorders (3)

Offered: Spring semesters, 2026 and 2028

This course will explore appropriate interventions for students with autism spectrum disorder. Research findings of the National Autism Standards Project will be considered, as well as ABA, Structured Teaching Modeling, Pivotal Response Treatment, and the SCERTS Model. Professional judgment, data-based decision making and the importance of including family preferences and values into the educational process will be emphasized.

SPE 6420 Assistive Technology to Support Literacy and Communication (3)

Offered: Fall semesters, 2026 and 2028

This course will explore the use of assistive technology to support literacy and communication in students with significant disabilities. Topics discussed will include various levels of assistive technology, availability of funding, importance of training in use and maintenance of devices, technology tools that enhance literacy instruction and integrating augmentative communication in the classroom, home and community.

SPE 6440 Supporting Students with Serious Medical Issues and Their Families (3)

Offered: Fall semesters, 2026 and 2028

This course will explore the medical and health concerns of individuals with significant developmental disabilities. Emphasis will be placed on the knowledge, skills and health maintenance practices required in the school setting, but issues of care across the lifespan will also be addressed. Related services (OT, PT, Speech, and Counseling), OSHA guidelines, and service deliveries will be discussed. Appropriate layout of a physical environment for students with medical and health needs will be discussed. The importance of including family preferences and values will be discussed. Candidates will complete CPR certification.

SPE 6900 Teacher as Researcher and Practitioner: Research Implementation for Special Education (3)

Prerequisite: EDU 6110 and admission to the Educator Preparation Program

Offered: Periodically based on student need

This course is designed to provide information and guidance to candidates as they design and implement a project-based product in P-12 schools. Students will be given the opportunity to design and develop a product (e.g., teaching aids such as curriculum design and materials; interactive website; in-service training workshop; professional conference presentation, etc.) that will support the best practices in special education. Furthermore, students will continue to deepen their understanding of educational inquiry and research methodologies, strengthen their ability to read critically, to synthesize and conceptualize research issues, and conduct a clear disciplined inquiry into a topic. Students will exit the course having completed their final culminating professional project.
